ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Pupils' output is the function of their motivation, teacher morale, principal's leadership and the climate of the school. The multi-dimensional and multiple phased research on the subject requires the cooperation of number of people - the pupils, teachers, principals and other friends. The above persons gave support to my activity wholeheartedly and without any reservation. I sincerely thank them all.

I was fortunate in getting Dr. D.N. Patel as my guide. His erudite scholarship coupled with keen insight in research made my efforts fruitful. Moreover, his amicable nature helped me in shedding my hesitation to approach him. I sincerely thank him, though I know full well that no words would express my indebtedness.

My mother, Smt. Laxmi, though less given to education, always inspired me to go for highest education. It is because of her insistence that I could finish this work. How can I thank her? Still however, I thank her sincerely.

My husband Mr. Kanan, my son Ravi and daughter Kavita were very helpful in my work. It would be indeed ungrateful if I don't recognize their help and thank them.
Last but not the least, I thank Master Raja and his mother Vijya Laxmi, who helped me in typing my manuscript in such a short time and that too neatly which is required in such a research report.
