BIBLIOGRAPHY

Becar, David, E. & Shapiro, David (V. California, School of Medicine, Los Angeles). Physiological response to clicks during Zen, Yoga and TM meditation. Psychology, 1991 (Nov.) 18(6), 694-699.

Paty, J., Brenot, Ph., Tignol, J., & Bourgeois, M. CU. de Bardean II France. Cerebral activity (contingent negative variation and evoked potentials) evoked during modified states of consciousness (deep relaxation, transcendental meditation). (Frem) Annales Medics Psychologies, 1979 (Jan.) Vol.136(1), 143-165.

Spanos, Nicholas P., Stam. Headrikas J., Rivers Stéphane M.

Warshal, Debar (U. Texas Austin effect of the transcendental meditation technique on normal jendrassi reflex time, Perceptual and Motor Skills, 1980 (Jan.) Vol. 50(3), pt. 2), 1103-1106.