ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In fact, the people to be acknowledged are many but some deserve to be mentioned. At the outset, I would like to express my immense and deepest gratitude to my research guide Professor Dr. Karbhari V. Kale, for his guidance, encouragement, and patience. I must mention that he is more than a guide as he is considered to me to be a source of knowledge, wisdom and cooperation; He taught me a lot on the research experience, conducting experiments, and paper composition, etc. I can always benefit from the discussions with him and learn how to become a good scholar. He has been a constant source of inspiration, ideas and information, and encouraged me to participate in the academic activities. Without his supervision and support, which I would not have been able to accomplish this thesis at this moment. I thank to Dr. Pradnya K. Kale for her precious advice, encouragement, support and guidance.

I must also thank the Government of Yemen for granting me a scholarship to complete my Ph.D. in Computer science in India. I must not forget to thank the Yemeni Embassy, the Cultural Attaché in New Delhi and the Consulate in Mumbai for their cooperation and support.

I would like to acknowledge and thanks to Programme coordinator for providing me all necessary facilities and access to Multimodal Biometrics System Development Laboratory to complete this work under UGC SAP (II) DRS Phase-I F. No.-3-42/2009 and One Time Research Grant F. No. 4-10/2010 (BSR).
