“If they answer not to thy call walk alone,
If they are afraid and cower mutely facing the wall,
thou of evil luck,
open thy mind and speak out alone.

If they turn away, and desert you when crossing the wilderness,
thou of evil luck,
trample the thorns under thy tread, and along the blood-lined track travel alone.

If they do not hold up the light when the night is troubled with storm,
thou of evil luck,
with the thunder flame of pain ignite thy own heart and let it burn alone.”
