ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

One always feels the paucity of words when it comes to heartfelt emotions. I experience this as I try to inscribe the names of those people who have contributed to the making of this work. Quite a number of people have touched my life and have made significant contributions to my study. At the outset, I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to all of them.

Dr. P. Marudanayagam, Professor and Head, Dept. of English, Pondicherry, University has been an excellent guru who supervised my work with infinite patience and understanding. I am extremely indebted to him for his scholarly suggestions, expert comments, criticism and words of encouragement during the various stages of my rather prolonged research. I am also grateful to my teachers Dr. P. Balaswamy, Dr. Sujatha Vijayaraghavan and Dr. P.N. Ramani, whose classes I attended during my Pre. Ph.D course. Dr. N. Natarajan has been a wonderful teacher, a constant source of encouragement and support. The epiphanic initiations into theory that I have experienced in his classes will forever remain etched in my memory.

Dr. M. F. Salat, Dept. of English, The M. S. University of Baroda has been of immense help in getting me the primary texts necessary for the study. I am indebted to him for his invaluable suggestions during the initial phase of my research and for all the co-operation and support he has extended to me in my work. Dr. O.P. Juneja, Director, Centre for Canadian Studies, The M. S. University of Baroda, too has helped me procure some of the primary texts. My friend from across the seas, Dr. Ralph P. Guentzel, Dept. of History, Franklin College, United States, helped me by sending the much needed secondary material. My thanks are due to him for his friendship, cooperation and support. Ms. Audrey Wright of Seattle Community College provided me with some secondary source material on Native American authors. My thanks to her too.

A special mention has to be made here of my teachers in the Dept of English, University of Calicut, especially Dr. Mohammed Elias, Dr.
R.Viswanathan, Dr. Sankaran Ravindran and Mr. T. M. A Jaleel whose classes fanned the fire of my interest in academic research. They have always encouraged and supported me. My friends Laxmi Rajesh and Padamanaban were also instrumental in my entering into serious academic research.

My days in Pondicherry were make memorable because of my friends Anil Kumar, Neetu, Sheena, Divya, Deepu, Sajith, Mathew, Comathi, Suhas, J K. Mishra Phoebe and Jonathan who have helped me in various ways and added colour to my existence. I have always found a good listener and friend in Anand (Palms Beach) whenever I needed one badly. My flat mates in Bangalore, Rashmi, Smitha, Kalyani, Ranjitha and Reena have been there for me in the turbulent final phase of my work, with words of encouragement and support. I thank all these people for their love and friendship.

Mr. Sudhakar, Assistant Registrar, Pondicherry University has been a tremendous help in solving the technical and administrative hazards that I encountered in the course of my research. My sincere thanks to him. The members of the non teaching staff, of the Dept. of English (particularly Ms. Seethalakshmi) were extremely co-operative throughout my research period. I thank them for their support. I am also grateful to Mr. Rathnasabapathi of Mr. P. C, for his diligent typing of some of the chapters.

I take this opportunity to name and thank the academics and institutions that have helped me in my work: Prof. C. D. Narasimhaiah, Mrs. Jayasree Sanjay, Dr. Nita Ramaiah, Dr. N. Ramachandran Nair, Dr M Snehaprabha, Dr. G. Chandrika and Dr. Nalini J. Thampy. American Studies Research Centre, Hyderabad; USIS Library, Chennai; Dhvanyaloka, Mysore; Centre for Canadian Studies, The M.S University, Baroda; Centre for Canadian Studies, Dept. of History, Pondicherry University; and SCILET, Madurai. The Librarian and staff of Ananda Ranga Pillai Library, Pondicherry University, have been extremely co-operative. I extend my thanks to them. I am also grateful to the UGC for the funding for my research. I thank all those people students, friends and well-wishers, though who unnamed here, have supported me.
Count your blessings, Name them one by one .. the song goes thus. Now I would like to name those ultra special people whose presence in my life has been a real blessing:

Dr. K. S. Mathew, Professor and Head, Dept of History and Director, Centre for Canadian Studies, Pondicherry University has been the guiding light in my life in many ways. He has helped me procure books; involved me in organizing seminars and conferences that have changed my outlook on academic research in significant ways; put me in contact with experts in the field, and has always been there to help me tide over my insecurities and anxieties. His contribution to my work is beyond words. I feel overwhelmed whenever I think of that unseen destiny that has brought me into contact with this great academic and even greater human being.

Mr. Shankaralal Mandelia (Shankaramama) has been my guardian angel, friend, philosopher and mentor. He has brightened my days with the sunshine and warmth of love and laughter. I really don’t know what I would have done without him.

Mrs. Rajeswari Vijayan (Remachechi), Poornima and Neelima have provided me with a home away from home and all the love and comfort that go with it. Words are insufficient to express all that I owe this wonderful family.

Dr. H. Kalpana has been a special friend and colleague who has helped me with her invaluable suggestions and comments and has always been there for me. I cherish her friendship and affection.

Dr. Mathew Chandrankunnel, CMI, has been a real friend in need and deed. He has helped me tide over the anxiety of incompletion with his constant support. The completion of my work within the stipulated time was possible solely because of his timely help and co-operation. Thanks is too simple a word for all that I owe him.

Edakulathur Geo Francis, my student and friend, has always been there with a helping hand whenever I needed him. His contribution to the completion of the present work cannot be measured in words. Mohan Eapen is a special friend who shared the light and shadows of my Pondy days. His faith and support kept me going in the turbulent initial days in Pondy. I owe all the fun and laughter to him. Reena, Teznim and Sajeev have always epitomized for me the idea of friendship. I cherish the warmth of their love and support.

My family has been extremely wonderful and supportive throughout the period of my research. I am indebted to all of them, especially Vishala Veliamma, Santhoshettan and Nandettan for their encouragement and support. My sister Priya has always been the brightest star in my horizon. Her love and faith in me has given me tremendous strength to go on. Finally, I would like to mention the four most important people in my life whose love and affection I have always taken for granted and without whose unconditional love and support my work wouldn’t have been possible or worth while – Amma, Achan, Ammayi and Unnimama. Unfortunately, Unnimama didn’t live to see the completion of my work. His love and faith in me has mattered more than anything else in the world. I dedicate my work to his loving memory, to his presence in absence in my life.
