ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The idea to carry out research on this topic was mooted during the discussion that I had with my esteemed and learned guide Dr. Sherry Sabbarwal, Reader, Department of Sociology, Punjab University, Chandigarh. I am deeply indebted to her for her invaluable guidance, advice and sustained help during this research. She has taken a lot of pain to go through the rough drafts where she has given her sincere guidance and innovative suggestions and continuous inspiration which enabled me to complete the present research work very smoothly and well in time.

I am deeply indebted to female lawyers practicing at High Court and District Courts for rendering their whole hearted assistance to me in collecting the required data.

A special thanks to Dr. (Mrs.) S.K. Bhatia, Deputy Advocate General, Punjab and Haryana High Court, Chandigarh for her valuable suggestions which were a great help in my work.
I owe my heartiest thanks to professor K.C. Kayastha, Chairman, Department of Sociology, Punjab University, Chandigarh, who has always extended his cooperation during my stay in the Department.

I also express my thanks to the office and library staff of this department for their unfailing help and kind cooperation.

I am overwhehelmed with my reverence for my parents, brother, Vivek Arora, Advocate and sisters, Pratima Arora and Vandana Arora who with their love and patience continuously sustained my efforts during the research.

Finally, my sincere thanks to Mr. A.S.Diwan who took great pain in completing and typing the work accurately.
