ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This research project reflects the experiences, the insights, the hard work and goodwill of many people who held up the light and illuminated my path towards a cherished destination which have been highly stimulating, rewarding and has proven as a span of learning and gaining insight into the world of realms.

Even the encyclopedias or the dictionaries of this universe could not give me the appropriate words to express my gratitude to my esteemed supervisor; Dr. V.V. Upmanyu, Professor, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh – India; for his soft, polite and analytical supervision. Without his direction, this venture would have no existence. In every moment his support strengthened me for this arduous task. I am extremely thankful to him for nurturing my research aptitude and enriching this report in innumerable ways.

My sincere thanks are indebted to Dr. Anuradha Bhandari, Chairperson, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for providing the necessary directions, facilities and a constant support.

I am immensely grateful & sincerely thankful to Dr. (Mrs.) Inderjit Walia, Principal, National Institute of Nursing Education (NINE), PGIMER, Chandigarh for her constant encouragement and facilitation to shape this project. The light of her guidance illuminated my path to go on.

I am indebted to Dr. Anil Malhotra, Additional Professor, Department of Psychiatry, Post Graduate Institute of Medical Education & Research (PGIMER) Chandigarh for showing me the path in the hour of need and guided me towards the right direction.
My heartfelt thanks are due to Dr. (Mrs.) Sushma Upmanyu, who always supported for the progress of this work.

I bow my head in the feet of my father Late Sh. Mohan Singh Senbhi, my mother Smt. Shakuntla Senbhi, my chacha ji Sh. D.C. Chugh and my loving sister Mrs. Santosh Virdy for showering their blessings for keeping me in high esteems throughout my work.

This research is the reality of all support provided by my husband Mr. Satish Sarin. He stood by me in every moment till it completed.

I am indebted to Salin and Ashima, my kids, for giving me their time spent on this work. Almighty bless them all for this prestigious deed. I am grateful to them.

This is an opportunity for me to pay thanks to my parents and in-laws family for bearing my attention to this task. I am thankful to all my friends Kanwaljit, Manpreet, Raminder & Asha (PGI), and Simmi & Sangeeta (Psychology) for their timely help and cooperation.

I am highly thankful to all the staff of the office, laboratory and library of the Department of Psychology, Panjab University Chandigarh for their constant cooperation and help extending to me.

I duly acknowledge the gratitude to the nurses of Nehru Hospital, Sector 12, Chandigarh; General Hospital, Sector 16, Chandigarh and Govt. Medical College, Sector 32, Chandigarh, for facilitating me for data collection of this project.

When I look back several focus appear before my eyes, all can not be mentioned, but no one is forgotten, I owe a debt of gratitude to all of them.
