ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Praise is to Almighty God who made me able to carry out the present study successfully. The consummation of this thesis work would not have been possible had it not been for the invaluable guidance, cooperation and inspiration of a number of people. 'thanks giving' appeared to be very simple but today I find it the most difficult job and wish had there been some parameter for estimating one’s feelings, my work would have been made easier. These humble words, expressions and gratitude cannot really convey the deep feelings of my heart.

It is my profound privilege to express my deep feelings of gratitude to my esteemed, learned and revered teachers and supervisors Professor Manjit Singh and Professor Dharam Pal Singh, Department of Social Work, Punjabi University Patiala for the benevolence, the encouragement, the valuable suggestions and constant guidance rendered at each step that helped me in completing my thesis. They have been the real inspiration for me in pursuing this research work. Their apt and innovative comments made the things easier for me as I could understand the various dimensions of the subject in the proper perspective. It was their endless support, unfailing attention and constant inspiration because of which, I was able to undertake this endeavor successfully.

I am indebted to all the families of disappeared persons who participated in the study for their kind cooperation and help without which the study would not have been completed.

I owe special thanks to Dr Hardeep Kour and Dr Ritu Bala, teachers Department of Social Work, Punjabi University and to all my colleagues at Department of Social work, University of Kashmir, Srinagar and
B.P.S. Women University, Sonipat for their ideas, suggestions and moral support. They would often give me meaningful insights concerning my subject matter. I am also grateful to GFATM Project Staff at BPS Women University and Mr. Karam Singh Office incharge department of Social work. B.P.S Women University all of them were kind enough to help me in my research endeavour.

I would like to express my gratitude to all my friends especially to Tanveer Ahmad Dar and Gurnam Singh Virk who extended their help so readily and unstintedly during the course of my study.

Thanks are also due to all the Government and Non-government organisations who rendered their help and support to me to complete this study.

I am greatly thankful to my family members who provided me a congenial atmosphere while during my engagement with the present work. Their love and affection has been a great boost for me.

Finally and immensely I am thankful to my wife Rubeena for her love and support. This study could not have been completed without her participation. She made me overcome all odds and made things easy for me. I again thank her.
