This part of the thesis, I believe, is even more difficult to compose than the other portions because you do not wish to leave out even one single person who contributed to the completion of this work but you have to do so eventually. So I will name some people while many others will remain unmentioned. This, of course, does not mean that they are less important than others in their help and support for the completion of the program.

First, I wish to express my deepest gratitude to my supervisor, Professor Pushpinder Syal, who with her tactful guidance and insightful ideas provided invaluable feedback and tremendous support at every single stage of my thesis. I am thankful to her for encouraging me to be innovative in terms of doing some work which would contribute to ELT field as well as to developing our learners’ whole person. I am also grateful to her for the high standard she demanded as well as her great ability to help me keep my work in perspective.

I would also like to thank the participants of this study who allowed me to carry out this research and I appreciate the time and effort they spared me generously. My gratitude is also due to Professor Anil Raina, the chairperson of the English department, and the administrative staff for their support. I would also like to mention several others who have assisted me in the data collection procedure. My thanks go to Dr. Deepti Gupta, Professor Manju Jaidka, Professor Lovelina Singh, and Dr. Surbhi Goel at Panjub University and Mr. Sarwal and so many others at DAV and GCG colleges for their assistance and sharing their time and experience with me. I would also like to extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to Professor Rana Nayar for his great help and insightful comments for the selection of passages for the study. My acknowledgements also go to Dr. Hossein Dehghan for carrying out the statistical description through SPSS software and Dr. Hamidreza Fatemipour for his tremendous assistance in the analysis of the data.

My final thanks go out to my husband who has always been my best friend and has shown me the true meaning of strength and love. He will always have my endless gratitude, admiration and adoration. My special thanks go to my daughter, Neshat, for her patience and understanding to put up with all the difficulties that a student life can pose. She is truly the happiness of our life and a real source of encouragement and inspiration.
Last but not least, I wish to express my gratitude to the members of our families who with their support and affection made our staying away from them a lot easier.
