ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my worthy supervisor, Prof. Sherry Sabbarwal, Chairperson, Department of sociology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for having given me opportunity to undertake this study. Her affectionate assistance, valuable suggestions and unfailing encouragement has always been a rich source of inspiration all along my study. Her immense erudition, academic brilliance and expertise have enabled me to grapple with the problems.

I am thankful to other faculty members of the Department and non-teaching staff who have been helpful, supportive and inspiring in many more ways that could be enumerated.

I am grateful to Ms. Bhuvneshwari Vohra, Land Acquisition Officer, Chamera Project for providing me information about the affected families and other related material. I also wish to thank Sh. Tej Singh Bijalwan, Naib Tehsildar, for his help and assistance in conducting the field surveys and proving vital information related to the study.

I owe a major debt to my parents who have encouraged and supported me throughout the course of study.

I especially wish to thank the respondents and other affected people who have patiently answered my questions and helped in gathering the data without which the present work would not have been possible.
