Acknowledgements

My sincerest appreciation is for Dr. Krishna Mohan, Reader, Department of Geography, Panjab University, Chandigarh, as he shaped the entire thesis from the beginning to its completion. He devoted his full focus, knowledge and time in orienting me towards the final form of the thesis. He taught me about the methodology for conducting the required research work. I also extend my gratitude to his family for their bountiful hospitality, which gave me filling at home.

I am grateful to all Faculty members of Geography Department, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for rendering support during my stay in the Department. Special thanks to Professor Surya Kant, Chairperson, for his special attention in guiding me in all administrative matters. I also appreciate the guidance of Professor Dhian Kaur, former Chairperson of the Department. I owe a debt of gratitude to all administrative staff of Geography Department, for extensive cooperation. Needless to say I depended heavily on my research fellow friends who gave me the necessary inputs and hints for conducting my study and they deserve all my thanks.

I am thankful to the Government of Ethiopia who sponsored my study and also am grateful to the Government of India for giving me the chance to study in India. The Debub University, presently known as University of Hawassa and Dilla College, presently known as Dilla University, have extended all the necessary support and facilities during my field survey. Special thanks to Mr. Kidane Fanta, former College Head of Dilla College and later Vice President for Administration and Development of Dilla University; Mr. Getachew Endalamaw, former Vice Head of Dilla College and Mr. Shumete Gizaw, former Dean of Faculty of Education, Dilla College and Mr. Teferi Mekonnen, Chairman of Geography Department, Dilla University for their astute guidance and support all through this research mission.

It is to the Faculty Members of Geography Department of Dilla University that I owe special thanks for their great moral support as well as for giving me the opportunity to do part-time work to cover my field expenses. It would be difficult for me to mention all the support I got from different offices and community members of Dilla University. I thank them most humbly for their strong backing during my research work as well as for standing besides me in times of my sorrow.

Special thanks go to Mr. Abiyot Legesse, my former student and presently lecturer in the Department of Geography, Dilla University. He taught me the basics of GIS software, accompanied me for field survey and helped me in sending the necessary information from Ethiopia while I was in India. I really appreciate his unreserved support as I do the help of Getahun Bogale, Tefera Tesfaye, Fitsum Negash and Bekele Admasu who also went with me for the field survey for many days covering their expenses. My deepest appreciation goes to them. Israel Shuramu, Ermiyas Amde and Yosef Mengesha helped me in compiling the data and I am very grateful to them for their efforts.

Many organizations have provided me the necessary information. I am thankful to the Agricultural and Rural Development Offices of Gedeo Zone, Bule Woreda, Kochere Woreda, Wonago Woreda and Yirga Chefe Woreda; Gedeo Zone Finance and Economic Development Office and Gedeo Zone Education Office for providing all sorts of data inputs. The Ethiopian Mapping Agency has provided me with the Satellite Images for 1986 and 2000. Several experts have also prepared land use maps of Gedeo from the satellite images, and thus they deserve special thanks.

I am grateful to Mr. Belete Ketema, Mr. Altaye Menu, Mr. Hero Buke and Mr. Kebede Woraso, my former students and presently working in Gedeo Zone Agriculture and Rural Development Office in different Capacities. I am thankful to Mr. Lukas Shanka, Mr. Abebe G/ Meskel, Mr. Wudneh Tilahun, Mr. Tewodros Genanaw and Ms. Etenat Geleta, Heads of the Department of Natural Resources at Woreda Agricultural and Rural Development Offices, for distributing and collecting questionnaires from Agricultural Agents of Gedeo Zone. Special thanks go to the Agricultural Agents of Gedeo Zone, for filling the questionnaire patiently. I am also thankful to the many farmers of Gedeo who allowed me to visit their farms and shared with me their farming experience both past and current.

I would like to offer my gratitude to Mr. Vishva Bandhu Singh, Map Curator and Mr. Mohan Singh, Cartographer, Department of Geography, Panjab University, for their able assistance in the preparation of the maps. I thank Dr. Rajina Lamba for editing the thesis.
thoroughly. To Mr. Rakesh Arora I am especially grateful as he assisted me in the compilation and setting of the thesis text.

My friends and their families supported me during my study. I am grateful to the families of Getahun Bogale, Senbete Toma and Belayehun Kibret. I am also thankful to the elders of Dilla Meserete Kiristos Church for their prayers and blessings that favoured me through my work.

Finally, I would like to express my profound gratitude for my parents, my father Teferi Mebrate and my mother Askale Teklewold for their unreserved support in bringing me up to the realization of my academic and over all potential. I thank my brother Abity Teferi, my sisters Almaz, Alemnesh, Azalech, Zenebech and Meaza for their support, either directly or indirectly, in this research work. I am also thankful to my daughter Nazrawit Bogale, who stayed with me in Chandigarh, India in 2005, while I was writing my synopsis. Genet Teferi (who passed away in May 2006 during my field study) has a special place in my heart for supporting me in my research work.

In conclusion, I praise the Almighty God for his help through out my life and thank him for the successful completion of this study.

Bogale Teferi
