I would like to express my sincere gratitude towards my guide and mentor, Dr. Yogesh P. Nerkar, for his guidance, constructive criticism, constant motivation and unconditional support throughout the course of this research work.

I have no words to express my gratitude towards the precious contribution of Dr. N. Gopalakrishnan, in taking cognizance of each and every minor aspect in my thesis and helped me accomplish it faster. He helped me to improve accuracy in mathematical modeling of the project. Without his timeless help, I could not reach to an expected result. I am grateful to him with due respect.

I would like to thank Professor and Head of Electrical Engineering Department Prof. (Dr.) G. A. Vaidya, for providing me with an opportunity for associating closely with the Electrical Engineering Department.

My respected professors in the department, Prof. M.P. Bhawalkar and Prof. Dr. (Mrs.) S. R. Deshmukh were inspirational in giving me valuable pieces of advice from time-to-time. The help extended by the non-teaching staff was very motivational. I am thankful to Er. V.L. Sonawane, Advisor to MERC and Dr. Sanjay Kulkarni, C.E. (STU). They had provided me valuable suggestions at some crucial stages of my project, and thus helped me in the smooth progress and success of this report.

The Dean of Maharashtra Institute of Technology Honorable Prof. S. S. Darade-Patil and Principal, Dr. L.K. Kshirsagar, extended whole hearted cooperation in every aspect of my Ph.D. work. I am grateful to them for their constant motivation during submission of my thesis.
My respected Head of the Department, Dr. G.N. Mulay, cooperated and guided me at every step. My visits to the Research Center, University, TPS etc. were comfortable and fruitful because of all logistics arranged by him. My sincere thanks to the non-teaching staff of MIT, Pune, for their cooperation.

Finally, I express my heartfelt thanks to my family for their endless support and love for me, which has made me stand strong, even through the most crucial stages of my research work.
