ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

My deepest debt of gratitude is to my supervisor Dr. Pauthang Haokip, who inspires me to complete the dissertation successfully. It is his decisive encouragement to embark on this voyage that led to a Descriptive Grammar of Inpui. I owe everything to him for his unceasing support, guidance and supervision at the every stage of my thesis.

My sincere thanks also go to all the faculty members of the Department of Linguistics, Assam University, Silchar for their constant source of inspiration and encouragement.

I thank my family members for their love, understanding, patience and encouragement. Without their support, this research would not have come to completion.

I want to thank the unnamed individuals who have helped me at every stage of writing this thesis, there are not enough words and there is not enough space here to thank each individual. First, I would like to thank the Inpui community for welcoming me into their lives and sharing with me their language and culture. My special thanks go to Amos Inka and his family for their exceptional hospitality during my field work. My association and friendship with the Simna Inka and her friends are so cherishable.
Last, but not the least, I would like to thank my fellow scholars at the department of Linguistics, Assam university for their moral support. My special thanks go to L. Bijenkumar Singh, research scholar of my department for his unceasing support and encouragement in the completion of my thesis.

(W. Pinky Devi)