ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are a lot of people who have extended their helping hands in the pursuit of my present study. The first and foremost among them is Prof. K. S. Mathew, my Research Supervisor who encouraged and supported me at every stage of my research, opened his vast treasury of knowledge through discussions and suggestions and allowed me to make use of the invaluable depository of his personal collection of sources. I would like to express my heart-felt thanks to my Guru.

I would also like to thank the President of the University of Nantes in France for having admitted me as a doctoral student under the Memorandum of Understanding with my parent University. I also thank the University of Nantes for the fellowship it offered for a period of 12 months, which helped me a lot to carry on my research in Europe. The guidance and help extended by Prof. Jacques Weber of the Department de Histoire, Université de Nantes is also acknowledged here. I thank him most sincerely for the care, guidance and help he rendered to me during my research in Europe especially in France. The help extended by Prof. Bâtrice Giorgi-Mignot, Prof. John-Pierre Bois, the Director of C.R.H.M.A, Nantes, Prof. Marcel Launay and other members of the teaching and non-teaching staff of the Université de Nantes is also acknowledged.

I would like to express my gratitude to I. C. H. R. for having awarded a Junior Research Fellowship for a period of three years to pursue my doctoral research. My gratitude is also due to Instituto de Camões, Lisbon, Portugal for the one-month Fellowship awarded to me for the study of Portuguese language in Lisbon (Curso de Verão).

My sincere thanks are also due to Mar Joseph Pallikaparampil, the Bishop of Palai for having given me the necessary permission for continuing my higher studies and research in various parts of the world.

I place on record my indebtedness to the staff and students of the University of Pondicherry, Université de Nantes, France, Universidade de Lisboa, Portugal, and I'Alliance Française, Pondicherry from where I equipped myself for research by the study of research methodology, French and Portuguese languages, and Paleography.

My sincere thanks are also due to Rt. Rev. Msgr. George Soubrier, the Bishop of Nantes for his paternal care. I also acknowledge my thanks to Paroisse Saint Donatien, Nantes, its parishioners, Vicar Pere Loiseau and other priests and the staff of the church who made my stay in Paroisse Saint Donatien homely. I also thank the MEP fathers for their hospitality during my research in Paris.

I would also like to record my gratitude to His Eminence Cardinal José Policarp, the Patriarch of Lisbon and Dom Manuel Clemente, Auxiliary Bishop and Rector of the Seminario Maior de Cristo Rei, Lisbon, Rev. Pe. Francisco Jose Tito Espinheira, the Vice-Rector, Pe. António Fernando Teixeira, the Vicar and the Parishioners of St. Joseph’s Church Algeirão, Lisbon, for their hospitality and generosity.

I owe a lot to Prof. Luis Felipe Thomaz who opened his personal library for my research, Dr. Geneviève Bouchon, Prof. Afzal Ahmad, Prof. Maria da Rosa, Mlle. Françoise Coquenlorge, Dona Luisa, Dona Mariana, Dona Mimi, Mrs. Angela Ivette Noronha, Miss Elizabeth Schneider, Msgr. Philip Najralakatt, the Manager of St. Thomas College Palai, Rev. Dr. Mathew Maleparampil, the Principal of St. Thomas College Palai, Sisters of S. H. F. C. Convent Pondicherry, Fr. Jose Thanikkal C. M. I,
Mr. Bino Joseph, Mr. Baby V.D., Mrs. Joyce Joseph, and Miss Punithavathy for the assistance they extended to me at various stages of my research. My gratitude is also due to my friends, all my well-wishers and family members for their support and encouragement.

Finally I would like to thank those who helped me with the printing and binding work of my thesis, especially Maran Computers Pondicherry and Omega Computers Palai and all who have assisted me one way or other during my researches.
