DEPARTMENTWISE CONTRIBUTIONS

The study reveals that the departments started during the year 1972, i.e., 26 years ago, have sufficient strength of teaching staff. There are 12 faculty members in Economics and 9 members in Commerce. This is perhaps because over a period of two decades the U.G.C and the state government sanctioned the staff in different plan periods; and the department of Rural Development which was started in the year 1977 and also able to have 8 teaching staff members. This gives us a true picture that to have sufficient staff any department requires a minimum period of two decades.

The Departments which were started after 1981 managed to get an average teaching staff strength of 5 to 6. Though the Department of Library and Information Science started during the year 1983 was able to get 3 faculty members during the Seventh Plan period and the Department of Adult, Continuing Education & Extension has 2 staff members only as it was established in the year 1992. As per table 4.1, the response given by the faculty members show that the Departments of Rural Development, History, Library and Information Science, and Adult, Continuing Education & Extension responded hundred percent whereas Sociology (83%), Commerce (89%), Political Science (83%), and Economics (92%) did not do so.

This table also reveals that the departments started in the year 1972 also succeeded in publication of research papers ranking themselves as the highest among the departments under survey. Commerce Department published 470 articles, and Economics 300. The Department of Rural Development produced 270 research papers.

The Department of History which was started in the year 1981 did its best and published 125 papers. The departments of Sociology, Political Science, and Library and Information Science published 90, 88 and 86 articles respectively. The Ph.D
degrees guided and awarded by the faculty members also show similar progress. The Department of Commerce produce 50 Ph.Ds, and 96 M.Phil degrees and stands first among all the departments under study. The Economics Department stands second by producing 36 Ph.Ds. and 85 M.Phil degrees, whereas the Departments of History and Rural Development stands third in the production of Ph.D degrees among the departments under study.

Based on the statistics it is assumed that the publication of research papers and the producing of Ph.Ds. and M.Phils mostly depend on the size of the department, the strength of the staff, and also the age of the department. In particular the growth and development of research in any department is mainly dependent on the size of the teaching staff of the department. But in certain cases, as we can identify the Department of Commerce, achievement is not only based on the strength of the staff but also on other factors such as research bent of mind and dedication of the faculty, which add to the growth and development of the research activity in the departments.

Individual contributions

The present study also helps us analyse the contributions of the individual faculties of different departments. In the Department of Commerce Dr. C.S. Rayudu, Associate Professor, contributed 110 articles, 22 books but under his guidance only 3 Ph.Ds. were awarded, whereas Dr. C.R. Reddy, Professor of Commerce, published 84 articles and 10 books, but 12 Ph.Ds. were awarded under his guidance. Similarly in the Department of Economics the highest number of articles were published by Prof. K. Nageswara Rao and Prof. C. Venkata Reddy, but 5 Ph.Ds. were awarded under Prof. C.Venkata Reddy and 2 Ph.Ds. under Prof. K. Nageswara Rao. In the Department of History, Prof. R. Vasantha contributed 100 articles, 3 books and supervised 9 Ph.Ds., whereas Dr. G. Bala Ranganath contributed 20 articles but has not so far guided any Ph.Ds. In the Department of Political Science, Dr. P.W. Purushotham, Associate Professor, published 35 articles, and 3 books and supervised 6 Ph.Ds, whereas Dr. B. Padmanabha Reddy, Assistant Professor published 12 articles, 2 books and supervised 3 Ph.Ds.

At the same time in the Department of Rural Development, Prof. P. Muralidharudu published 38 articles and supervised 4 Ph.Ds, whereas Dr. V. Reddappa Reddy, Associate Professor published 28 articles and supervised one Ph.D. In the Department of Sociology, Prof. Ch. Uma Mohan published 21 articles one book, whereas Prof. G. Lakshmaiah Naidu, Sociology published 23 articles, and 5 Ph.D.s. In the Department of Library and Information Science, Prof. P. Kamaiah, published 60 articles, 4 books, and supervised 2 Ph.Ds, whereas Mr. P. Raja Rathnam Chetty published 12 articles.

This analysis reveals that it is not seniority is the main reason for the contribution of articles and publishing of books; it depends on an individual's interest and dedication. But supervision of Ph.Ds, is mainly dependent on the seniority of the staff member in each discipline.

Ranking by cadre

The analysis reveals that among the Professors, Dr. C.R. Reddy, Department of Commerce stands first (84 articles, 10 books, 12 Ph.Ds.), Dr. K. Nageswara Rao of the Department of Economics stands second (67 articles, 2 books and 2 Ph.Ds.), and Dr. R. Vasantha stands third (63 articles, 3 books, and 9 Ph.Ds). Among Associate Professors, Dr. C.S. Rayudu, Commerce Department stands first (110 articles, 22 books and 3 Ph.Ds), Dr. P.B. Appa Rao, Commerce stands second (40 articles, 4 books and 5 Ph.Ds), and Dr. P.W. Purushotham, Political Science stands third (35 articles, 3 books and 6 Ph.Ds). Among Assistant Professors, Dr. A. Venkata Ramana, Department of Commerce stands first (26 articles), Dr. Balaranganath, History, second (20 articles) and Dr. K. Satyanarayana Reddy third (18 articles).

Departmentwise ranking

Departmentwise ranking shows Commerce (470 articles, 50 Ph.Ds, 96 M.Phils) in the first place, Economics (300 articles, 36 Ph.Ds, and 85 M.Phils) in the second place, and Rural Development and Social Work (270 articles, 29 Ph.Ds in R.D. and one in Social Work, 68 M.Phils in R.D. and 4 in Social Work) in the third place.

Findings from personal interview

The faculty members under study were interviewed and their opinion obtained in relation to publication of articles and books and supervising of research for Ph.D degrees and the following are the consolidated opinions:

1) The respondents are of the opinion that the publication of articles is solely dependent on the availability of library facility, personal library collection and attending conferences and seminars.

2) Publication of books is possible through experience, innovation in teaching methods, and obtaining knowledge about the growth and development of the subject.

3) Supervising research for Ph.D degrees is dependent upon the interest and sincerity of the research scholar as well as library facilities within the campus and outside the campus and also the socio-economic cultural background of the research scholar.

B. CONCLUSIONS

This is a small study of Bio-bibliography of the faculty in Social Sciences Departments of S.K.University, Anantapur (A.P) - India helped me draw the following conclusions: For the research contribution of any faculty member depends on certain infrastructure and congenial environment.
1) It is suggested that each faculty member in an institution of higher education must possess the highest research degrees in their respective subject and keep pace with the latest developments in the field of education.

2) The authorities of each institute of higher learning must provide good library facilities, especially subscribing to research journals for providing latest knowledge in each discipline.

3) Each department is must organise conferences, seminars and workshops periodically, so as to provide an opportunity for the faculty members to participate and to exchange their views on each specialised topic with other participants and to interact with them.

4) Each faculty member expects privacy and peaceful atmosphere during the leisure time inside the department during working hours. Therefore independent staff rooms for each faculty member will encourage better use of leisure and divert their attention towards research.

5) Scientific selection of faculty members also establishes quality of work and research among the faculty members.

6) Different funding agencies such as UGC, CSIR, ICSSR etc must come forward for liberal sanction of major and minor research projects in each subject, so that the faculty member develops interest in research and contributes to the growth and development of knowledge in their field.

7) Opportunity must be given to depute the faculty members to refresher courses in order to update their knowledge.
