ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is great pleasure for me to acknowledge here the contributions and help rendered by many of scholars in the completion of this research work.

At the outset, I am highly grateful and indebted to Dr. N. Rangaswamy, Professor and Former Chairman, Department of Economics and Former Dean, Faculty of Arts, Bangalore University, Bangalore, for his inspiring and scholarly guidance. In spite of his preoccupation with several academic and administrative responsibilities and assignments, he has been kind enough to spare his valuable time for giving me the necessary counsel and guidance. I have learnt from him, how discipline, assiduity and earnestness to go a long way in moulding the personality of a researcher. It is, indeed, his help, guidance, suggestions and encouragement which have helped me in the completion of this research study. He has been a source of constant encouragement and help right from the selection of the research topic till its completion.
I am grateful to R.G. Desai, S.N. Nanjegowda, Veerachamy, K.K. Seethamma and other teaching Faculty of the Department of Economics, Bangalore University, Bangalore, for their continued help and encouragement.

I am thankful to Bangalore University authorities for granting me the Fellowship for pursuing the study.

During the course of this research, I benefited immensely by the thoughtful and useful comments and suggestions of many learned experts which helped in moulding the thesis. For this, I am grateful to Professors M.G. Chandrakanth, Nagaraja and T.N. Prakash, University of Agricultural Sciences, Bangalore and R.S. Deshpande, K. Mathyaazghan, M. Prahladachar, P.H Rayappa, and V. Ramaswamy, Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bangalore.

In this regard I also express my gratitude to all the Faculty members of University of Agricultural Sciences, Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bangalore with whom I had the opportunity of discussing and interacting at different stages of my Ph.D. work which has helped me to enrich my knowledge.
I am grateful to the respondents (both enterpreneurs and the workers engaged in agro-based industries) for having co-operated with me in expressing their views and opinions which have enlightend me a lot in understanding the problems that are being faced by the enterpreneurs and workers engaged in agro-based industries.

I shall be failing in my duty, if I do not thank all those who have helped me either directly or indirectly in collecting the information in the field survey.

In the preparation of my thesis, I benfited from various libraries apart from Banglore University. To mention a few, Institutue for Social and Economic Change, Bangalore and University of Agricultural Sciences, Bangalore. I am thankful to the staff of these libararies.

My thanks are also due to all the administrative staff of the Bangalore University who unselfishly took care of my stay during my study period.

I am grateful to the officials of the Directorate of Industries and Commerce,
Directorate of Economics and Statistics, Bangalore, District Industries Centre, Kolar for permitting me to use the relevant published and unpublished data and other information available with them.

My affectionate thanks are due to all my friends especially N.Anjanappa, B.Jayarama, Sukumara, Nagaraj, Najundaswamy, Suresh and Krishnappa whose help and encouragement has enabled me to complete the thesis.

Last but not least, I am highly indebted to all my family members who not only patiently waited for the completion of my work but also encouraged me constantly despite many stresses and strains. My sincere thanks to all of them.
