Acknowledgements

My deepest feelings of gratitude are towards my Research Director, Prof. B. Parvathi, for her wonderful, inspiring guidance, for her warmth, affection and unstinting support all through the last three years. She has been a Guru and a role-model who has taught me not only about literature but also about life.

I am grateful to the University Grants Commission, New Delhi for awarding me a Research Fellowship which enabled me to devote myself wholeheartedly to research.

It has been my privilege to pursue research at the Andhra University, one of the oldest and most renowned universities in India, and especially in the department of English which has rendered yeoman service to the field of Indian Writing in English. I am deeply indebted to the faculty and the Head of the Department of English, for their support and guidance. I also wish to thank all my fellow research scholars, past and present, for their warmth and affection.

A special word of thanks is due to my novelists – Mr. Gurcharan Das, Mr. Vikas Swarup, Mr. David Davidar, Ms. Meher Poonjji, Ms. Manjula Padmanabhan, Mr. Rohinton Mistry for being extremely gracious and replying to my queries and offering me the privilege of interviewing them. I shall always cherish those golden moments.

During the past three years, I had the good fortune of interacting with eminent professors, scholars and researchers at varied literary forums like the Researcher’s Association, Cuttack and Dhvanyaloka, Mysore. I thank Prof. B. K. Das, Prof. M. Q. Khan, Prof. G. K. Das, Prof. Rupin Desai, Prof. C. N. Srinath and Dr. Ragini Ramachandra for all the inspiration and encouragement. My heartfelt gratitude to Rev. Dr. Jacob Kani of Indian Currents, Delhi, the editors of Muse India, Dr. Ravi Nandan Sinha of The Quest, Dr. G. S. Balarama Gupta of the Journal of Indian Writing in English and Prof. Prabhat Singh of Mahatma Gandhi Kashi Vidyapeeth, Varanasi, for the opportunity to publish research papers and articles in their esteemed journals and anthologies.

It is my pleasure to thank the librarian and staff of Dr. V. S. Krishna Library, Andhra University, the SCIL ET library, Chennai, the Public Library, Visakhapatnam, the Mysore University Library, the EFLU library, Hyderabad and the library at Dhvanyaloka, Mysore. A big thanks to the staff at Ashok Book Centre, Visakhapatnam and Pages Book Shop, Visakhapatnam for their wonderful collection of books, for procuring texts for me and bearing with me.

I remember with gratitude all my teachers at school and college, especially those to whom I owe my love of English language and literature. A special thanks to Prof. D. J. Chaudhari, Amravati, Maharashtra, for his faith in me and for being my favourite teacher. I am ever grateful to my late grandaunt Rev. Sr. Treasa Peter JMJ, my uncles Rev. Br. C. D. Michael MSFS and Rev. Fr. Jose Edassery MSFS, and my aunt Rev. Sr. Rositta SH for their prayers and assistance.
A big loving Thank You to my father Prof. Joseph Valiyamattam and my mother Dr. Mrs. Elsy Joseph Valiyamattam for being the centre of my universe, for always being there for me, for their sacrifices and incredible love, guidance, encouragement and help. I shall always cherish my beloved little sister and best friend Georgitta’s priceless assistance as the perfect sounding board for all my ideas. I fondly remember the seemingly endless hours of typing, editing and formatting that we put in together. I owe everything to my family.

Above all, my eternal gratitude to God Almighty, who has been merciful to me always. All true wisdom comes from and leads to Him.
