ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It takes all sorts of things and men to make a world; so is the case with thesis writing. A number of people have helped me in bringing this work into its present form. In the first place, I must express my gratitude to the Almighty Allah Whose blessings and guidance have given me the strength and enabled me to complete this work well in time.

I have indeed been blessed with caring Supervisors—Professor Basant Kumar Sharma and Professor Vijay Nagpal - who have, with their kind-heartedness and optimistic view of life, made me feel at home during my stay in Chandigarh for Ph.D. They are, indeed, wonderful persons to work with and I invoke the Almighty Allah to grant them the best of everything in life. I thank them dearly for all they have done to keep me motivated and for the valuable guidance that made my task easy, smooth and well-directed.

I am thankful to Professor Nisar Ahmad Ganai of the Department of Law, Jammu University, for his unfailing support and encouragement. His professional guidance was, indeed, enriching. Professor Mir Mehrajuddin, Chairman Law Department, Kashmir University deserves a sincere token of thanks for the constant cooperation he extended to me whenever I approached him for guidance and support. I express my thankfulness to Prof. Tahir Mahmood, Member Law Commission, Govt. of India and Founder-Chairman, Amity University Institute of Advanced Legal Studies & President, Islamic Law Society of India, who was the first person to welcome me in the Research Field.

Prof. Quassim Buraih, Prof. Ibrahim Hugari, Prof. Ahmed Al Mamari and Prof. Ahmed Al-Quadaimi have always been beacons of hope and source of cheer since the first year of my graduation. I thank them dearly for everything they have done for me. A word of praise is in place for Prof. Iqbal Ali Khan Chairman, Law Department, Aligarh Muslim University and Prof. Saleem Akhtar; Associate Professor Davinder Thakur, Department of Laws, Panjab University for having been helpful to me.
My heartfelt thanks go to my father in law, mother in law and sister in law. It is due to support of my sister in law that I was able to give the correct English language in my thesis.

I am grateful to Dr. Asghar Ali Engineer, Director, Institute of Islamic Studies and Chairman, Centre for Study of Society and Secularism, who helped me at every stage and made me clearly understand the Quranic verses, Hadith and Sunna, when I was not able to understand the proper meaning of the Arabic words. I was greatly encouraged when I was invited cordially by his Islamic Centre Mumbai for attending seminars and workshops and for providing me the opportunity of making presentation related to my topic, during the seminars. I am thankful to Dr. Yoginder Sikand, Research Scholar (Post Doctoral in London University) Advocate, Neelofar Akhtar, President Family Court Bandra, Mumbai, Prof. Zeenat Shoukat Ali, St. Xavier College, Mumbai, Dr. Malika Mistry, Professor Nes Wadia College, Pune and Maulana Shoaiib Koti.

I present my heartfelt words of gratitude and appreciation to my loving husband Mr. Shabir Ahmed Mufti — who has been a very warm shelter for me, the symbol of sympathy, love, patience, and sacrifice, the person who has been eagerly waiting for the completion of this work with a mixed feeling of hope and anxiety. He always gave me company when I burned the midnight oil working on this thesis. It is his soft (though sometimes hard) patting in trying to wake me up every day that has made up for the constant lack of my night’s sleep.

It is his due to his prayers and sincere wishes that I could complete this work. May Allah the Almighty keep him safe and sound so that my life shines up with more prosperity?

Perhaps I received the best motivation from my dear children, the loveliest flowers in our garden, who have always prayed to the Almighty for the successful completion of this work.

I owe a special word of thanks to Shamshad Khan, Advocate, and President Bar Council of India, Malerkotla Sessions Court Sangrur, who with his other associate advocates, helped me gather information through RTI Act, from the Court and Mufti Azam, Mufti Irteqa-ul-Hassan Raqi Kandhalvi, Darul Ifta, Malerkotla, who gave their precious time for interviews and helped with the questionnaire’s, related to the topic of this study. Without the help of these people, this thesis would not have been completed.

Last but not the least, I thank, Prof. Nishtha Jaswal, Chairperson Department of Law, Prof. P.S. Jaswal, former Chairman of Department of Law Panjab University, Library Staff and Other Staff members of Department of Laws Punjab University for giving me their cooperation & support.
