ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Finally, I have reached the stage of completion of my doctoral thesis. I am extremely happy to recollect and express my gratitude to those who helped me in the study, both academically and non academically. First of all, my supervisor, Prof. D. Rajasekhar, without whom this work would not have been materialised. He was a constant source of encouragement and inspiration right from the beginning till the end of this study. I thank him wholeheartedly for all the support. I express my gratitude to my doctoral committee members, Prof. V.M. Rao and Dr. M.J. Bhende for giving adequate attention to my work and for their useful comments and suggestions.

It was indeed ISEC which provided me the opportunity to complete this doctoral programme and I am thankful to Prof. Govinda Rao, former Director of ISEC and Prof G.K. Kadekodi, the present Director. I also thank ICSSR for the financial assistance, which was a crucial element in completing this study.

I am very much thankful to my permanent panel member, Prof. R.S. Deshpande, for the critical and creative comments from the very beginning of my study. This helped me enormously in the design of the study, methodology and for relating theoretical issues to the empirical ones. I am also indebted to Dr. Madheswaran, Dr. Gayathri Devi, Dr. Ninan and Prof. Ravi Kanbur for helping me by giving useful comments and suggestions in the ISEC biannual seminar series. I express my gratitude to Prof. D. Narayana and Prof. Dinkar Rao for providing me with useful comments.

The help provided by various Ph. D coordinators such as Drs. G S Sastri, Usha Devi, and Anand Inbanathan are fondly remembered. I also thank ISEC Registrar, administrative staff and library staff especially, Mr. Kalyanappa, Mr. Venkatesh, Ms Leela, Ms. Naz, Mr. Rajanna, Mr. Suresh, and Mr. Rudresh. Special thanks are due to Mr. K. S. Narayana, Mr. Krishna Chandran, Ms. Margret and Shanta Ma'am for all the help rendered during the course of my study. I am also thankful to each and every members of Centre for Decentralisation and Development, especially Dr. Anil, Manjula and Suchitra.

I am grateful to Mr. Vijayanand IAS and Mr. T.K. Jose IAS for spending time with me for valuable discussions on the micro-finance programme in Kerala. I also thank Mr. Krishnakumar and other members of Kudumbashree, Thiruvananthapuram. It was because of the help given by Mr. N.J. Varghese, Thiruvananthapuram that I could get in touch with NGOs working in Wayanad district.

I have received help from Mr. C.J. Jose, Kudumbashree Co-ordinator, Wayanad for getting introduced to co-ordinators and members of government programme at the panchayat level. Special thanks are due to Presidents of Sulthan Bathery and Noolpuzha panchayats for introducing me to the CDS presidents and SHG members and for giving me an opportunity to participate in their meetings. The help and the assistance provided by NGOs such as RASTA, Shreyas, WSSM and Hilda are noteworthy. It was because of their support that I could complete my fieldwork at the earliest. I also recollect the time spared by NABARD Co-ordinator of Wayanad district for the insightful discussions which became useful while writing my thesis. Moreover, I received good cooperation from SBI, Indian Bank, Sulthan Bathery Co-operative Bank for discussions on banking aspects of micro-finance group members.

It was because of the help and cooperation rendered by SHG and NHG members of Sulthan Bathery and Noolpuzha panchayats that I could collect adequate information for the present study. I thank them for spending adequate time for conducting the group meetings and interviews, many a times even forgoing their daily jobs. I thank Usha chechi and family for the support, encouragement and special care during my fieldwork days, the memories of which I cherish even now. I am grateful to DIET, Sulthan Bathery for the pleasant stay during my fieldwork.

In the course of my studies, I received help from different faculty members of at different stages. Among them, Drs. Sivakami, Vani, Meenashi Rajiv, Brinda, Ramachandran, Ajit Menon, Jose Chathukulam, Priya are noteworthy. I am thankful to my senior friends, Viswanathan, Jeena, Jyothis, Kannan, Amal, Gagan, and Binitha for spending time to discuss my research topic at different stages. Thanks are due to my batch mates Anand, Prathiba, Venu, Satya for the special company from the very beginning. Even now, I recollect the help given by other ISEC friends like Praveen, Kiran, Kshama, Dukhi, Ashish, Mahesh, Liya, Nisha, Poulomi, Badri, Tunga, Sarala and Subir. I thank Mr. Parthasarathy for the editing work.

It would have been impossible to complete PhD on time, had I not received support and assistance from my family. I am very much indebted to them for my studies and it is because of their prayers that believe I could reach this stage. I am very much thankful to Ichachan, my late Ammachchi, Pappa, Mummy, Chettai, Vimal, Seena and Kuttan. Now, they would be really happy to know that I have completed my work.

I am not venturing into the formality of thanking my husband Santhosh, but only remembering lovingly that he stood with me all along, giving me the much needed emotional and academic support whenever I needed them. It is that support which helped me to finally reach this point of relief.
