CONTENTS

Declaration
Certificate
Acknowledgments
List of Tables ........................................ iv
List of Figures ........................................... vii
List of Boxes ........................................... vii
List of Annexes ......................................... vii
List of Abbreviations ................................... viii

Chapter 1 ..................................................................................................................1-14
Introduction
1.1 Introduction ........................................................................................................ 1
1.2. Rural Credit Markets in Developing Countries ................................................ 4
1.3. The Research Problem ..................................................................................... 6
1.4. Micro-Finance Programmes in India ................................................................. 8
1.5. Objectives ........................................................................................................ 10
1.6. Hypotheses ...................................................................................................... 10
1.7. Methodology ................................................................................................... 10
1.8. Organisation of the Study .............................................................................. 12

Chapter 2 ..................................................................................................................15-38
Institutional Dimensions of Micro-Finance Groups
2.1 Introduction ....................................................................................................... 15
2.2. Imperfections in the Rural Credit Market ....................................................... 16
2.3. Innovations in the Rural Credit Market ............................................................ 19
2.4. Micro-Finance as an Innovation in the Credit Market ..................................... 22
2.5. Concept of Collective Action .......................................................................... 25
2.6. Factors Facilitating Collective Action ............................................................... 27
2.7. Micro-Finance Groups as Institutions of Collective Action ............................. 29
2.8. Challenges before Micro-Finance Groups ......................................................... 33
2.9. Research Gaps ................................................................................................. 36
2.10. Summary ....................................................................................................... 37

Chapter 3 ..................................................................................................................39-62
Micro-Finance Developments in India and Kerala
3.1. Introduction ....................................................................................................... 39
3.2. Fulfilling the Credit Demands of Rural India Over the Years ......................... 39
3.3. Self-Help Groups in India ................................................................................ 44
3.4. Role of NGOs in the Promotion of SHGs ......................................................... 48
3.5. Major Challenges in the Growth of Micro-Finance Programmes in India ....... 50
3.6. Evolution of NHGs in the Kerala Scenario ...................................................... 52
Chapter 4 .............................................................................................................. 63-82
Methodology of the Study
4.1. Introduction 63
4.2 Indicators and Variables of the Study 64
4.3 Methods and Instruments Used for Data Collection 69
4.4 Sampling Framework 74
4.5 Procedures Adopted for Data Collection 76
4.6 How Objectivity in the Data was Cross-checked? 78
4.7 Summary 81

Chapter 5 ........................................................................................................... 83-114
Sample Area, Micro-Finance Groups and Member Households: A Profile
5.1. Introduction 83
5.2. Profile of Wayanad District 84
5.3. Micro-Finance Programmes of Wayanad 89
5.4. Sample Design and Size 93
5.5. Profile of Selected Gram Panchayaths 94
5.6. Information Pertaining to the Selected Micro-Finance Groups 96
5.7. Socio-Economic Profile of the Micro-Finance Group Members 102
5.8. Participation of Members in Group Meetings 104
5.9. Savings Behaviour of the Members 108
5.10. Summary 112

Chapter 6 ......................................................................................................... 115-142
Collective Action in the Selection of Borrowers
6.1. Introduction 115
6.2. Credit Operations in the Sample Groups 116
6.3. Mechanisms and Incentives Followed for the Selection of Borrowers 119
6.3.1. Duration of Membership 119
6.3.2. Attendance in Meetings 120
6.3.3. The Ratio of Savings to Loans 121
6.3.4. Repayment Norm 121
6.4. Factors Determining the Loan Amount Obtained by the Members 122
6.4.1. Number and Amount of Loans 123
6.4.2. Factors Influencing the Loan Amount Obtained by the Members 124
6.4.3. Factors Determining the Selection Procedure 128
6.5 Did Incentives for the Selection of Borrowers Work? 133
6.6. Summary 141

Chapter 7 ........................................................................................................... 143-171
Monitoring the Utilisation of Loans
7.1. Introduction 143
6.5 Description of the Variables and Their Expected Sign for Amount of Loans 125
6.6 Determinants of the Amount of Loans Received by the Members 126
6.7 Distribution of Members by Their Perception on the Selection Procedure Followed in the Group 129
6.8 Description of Independent Variables and Expected Sign for Perception of the Members on Selection Characteristic 130
6.9 Results of Logit Regression Model on Perception of the Members on Selection 131
6.10 Distribution of Respondents by Reasons for Obtaining Loans 134
6.11 Distribution of Members by Their Statements on Response Towards Those Not Complying with the Norms 135
6.12 Distribution of Respondents by Reasons for Obtaining Loans and Their Possible Reactions to Those Who Did Not Fulfil the Attendance Norm 136
6.13 Distribution of Respondents by Reasons for Obtaining Loans and Their Possible Reactions to Those Who Did Not Fulfil Saving Linked to Credit Norms 137
6.14 Distribution of Respondents by Reasons for Obtaining Loans and Their Possible Reactions to Those Who Did Not Fulfil the Repayment Norm 138

7.1 Distribution of Groups by Types of Monitoring 144
7.2 Distribution of Micro-Finance Groups by Training Programmes Received 145
7.3 Responses of Members (%) on the Extent to Which Monitoring Incentives were Present in Groups 146
7.4 Distribution of Members (%) by their Responses on the Frequency of Their Participation in the Group Discussion Relating to Monitoring and the Reasons for Such Response 147
7.5 Status of Monitoring in the Sample Groups 148
7.6 Purpose-wise Distribution of the Loan Amount 151
7.7 Distribution of Members by Income Generation Activities Undertaken with Loan Received from the Groups 153
7.8 Description of the Variables and Their Expected Sign on IGAs Undertaken by the Members 155
7.9 Determinants of IGAs Undertaken by the Members 157
7.10 Contribution of SHG/NHG Loan to Total Investment 159
7.11 Amount of Loan Mobilised from Sources Other Than Groups for Investment 161
7.12 Social Category-wise Distribution (%) of Amount of Loan Mobilised from Sources Other than NHG/SHG 162
7.13 Contribution of the IGA (%) to the Annual Income of the Household 164