LITERATURE CITED

Anand RK and Chauhan R 1983. Simultaneous control of red pumpkin beetle (Rapidopalpa foveicollis Lucas), mite (Tetranychus cucurbitae Rahman and Sapra) and powdery mildew (Sphaerotheca fuliginae Schlecht) of bottle gourd with mixture of pesticides. Indian Journal of Agricultural Sciences 53(9): 851-854

Borah RK 1998. Evaluation of insecticidal schedule for the control of red pumpkin beetle and fruit fly of red pumpkin in the hill zone of Assam. Indian Journal of Entomology 60(4): 417-419

Dhillon NPS 1993. The lack of relationship between bitterness and resistance of cucurbits to red pumpkin beetle (Aulacophora foveicollis). Plant Breeding 110(1): 73-76

Hart WJ, Fujimoto MS, Kamakah D and Harris EJ 1967. Attraction of melon flies to lures on foliage or fibers at various heights. Journal of Economic Entomology 60(4): 1139-1142

Hassan E 1998. Insecticidal toxicity of neem seed kernel extract (NSKE) on Bactrocera trygoni (Frogg), (Diptera : Tephritidae) and repellency on persimmon fruit. Zeitschrift fur Pflanzenkrankheiten and Pflanzenschutz 105(4): 411-416

Johri R and Johri PK 2003\textsuperscript{a}. Seasonal biology, abundance and intensity of attack of red pumpkin beetle, \textit{Aulacophora foveicollis} Lucas on cucurbit crops at Kanpur in Utter Pradesh. \textit{Journal of Applied Zoological Research} 14(2): 144-147

Johri R and Johri PK 2003\textsuperscript{b}. Food preference of red pumpkin beetle, \textit{Aulacophora foveicollis} Lucas at Kanpur in Utter Pradesh. \textit{Journal of Applied Zoological Research} 14(1): 80-81

Kapoor VC and Agarwal ML 1983. Fruit flies and their natural enemies in India. In: \textit{Fruit flies of Economic Importance} (Cavalloro, ed), Balkema Rotterdam. p 104-105

Khan SM and Jehangir M 2000. Efficacy of different concentrations of sevin dust against red pumpkin beetle causes damage to musk melon. \textit{Journal of Biological Sciences} 3(1): 183-185

Narayanan ES and Batra HN 1960. Fruit flies and their control, ICAR (Indian Council of Agricultural Research). New Delhi. p 68

Pawar DB, Mote UN and Lawande KE 1991. Monitoring of fruit fly population in bitter gourd crop with the help of lure trap. Journal of Maharashtra Agricultural University 16(2): 281

Ronald FLM and Jayma LMK. Distribution and host range of Bactrocera cucurbitae (Coquillet). http://extento.hawaii.edu/kbase/crop/type/bactro_c.htm [5th May, 2011]

Vashistha RN and Chaudhury B 1971. Studies on resistance to red pumpkin beetle (Aulacophora foveicollis Lucas) in musk melon, bottle gourd and water melon.
Progressive Horticulture 2(4): 47-58

Vergheese A, Nagarraju DK and Sreedevi K 2005. Comparison of three indigenous lures/baits with three established attractants in case of fruit flies (Diptera :
Tephritidae). Pest Management in Horticultural Ecosystems 11(1): 75-78

Wadhwani K and Khan NH 1983. Effects of sublethal doses of toxic baits on the reproductive potential of Dacus cucurbitae Coq. Indian Journal of Agriculural Sciences 53(11): 936-938

: Diptera : Tephritidae) Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, Division of Plant Industry and TR Fasulo, University of Florida.
University Florida Publication EENY, p 199

*White IM and Elson-Harris MM 1992. Fruit flies of economic significance, their identification and bionomics. CAB International Wallingford, United Kingdom.
P 125-135

Wong TTY, McInnis DO, Ramadan MM and Nishimoto JI 1991. Age related response of male melon flies, Dacus cucurbitae (Diptera : Tephritidae) to cuelure. Journal of Chemical Ecology 17(12): 2481

Original not seen