REFERENCES
REFERENCES

Davis & Tracie (2009). General and special educators’ attitude toward students with severe disabilities included in the regular education classroom. Dissertation Abstracts International, 70 (04), 1232-A.

Farmer, M. S. (2005). Inclusion: where we’ve been, where we are, where we're going. Electronic Journal for Inclusive Education, 1(9). Retrieved from coresholar.libraries.wright.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=1061...

Malak S. (2013). Inclusive education in Bangladesh: Are pre-service teachers ready to accept students with special educational needs in regular classes? 24(1). Retrieved from ro.ecu.edu.au/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=2031&context=ajte

206

Regis, C. (2011). Special needs education (SNE) in-service teacher trainees’ views on inclusive education in Zimbabwe. South Africa: chireshe@yahoo.co.uk

Robert et al. (1985). Teaching the educable mentally retarded. Published by State University of Newyark. Retrieved from file573.hjscbooks.com/clinical-teaching-methods-of-instruction-for-the-r...

between India and Finland’ at Helsinki, 27-28 November 2007. Retrieved from www.dise.in/Downloads/.../Sangeeta%20Shirname.pdf

Education Publication.

Saypula & Linda (2009). Teachers’ understanding, attitudes towards, and preparedness to teach in the inclusion classroom. Dissertation Abstracts International, 71(03), 1264-A.

Saxon & Karyn (2008). Integrating student, with disabilities into the general education classroom: An ethnographic study on two service delivery models. Dissertation Abstracts International, 69(02), 566 – A.

International, 63(07), 2506-A.

my day. The other days, I’m ok’.—Perspectives of disabled children on inclusive Schumm & Vaughn (1998). Social outcomes for students with and without learning disabilities in inclusive classrooms. Journal of Learning Disabilities, 31(5), 428-students placed in self-contained special education classrooms. Teaching Exceptional Children Plus, 26(1). Retrieved from http://journals.cec.sped.org/tecplus/vol2/iss6/art3

Office for CEECIS Education Section Palais de Nations Ch 1211 Geneva 10 Switzerland.

