Chapter 8

References
REFERENCES

Keutscher AH, Zegarelli EV, Beube FE, Chiton NW. A new vehicle (Orabase) for the application of drugs to the oral mucus membranes. Oral Pathol. 12 (1959) 1080-1089.

Lee WE. Permeation enhancers for the nasal delivery of protein and peptide therapeutics, Bio Pharm. 3 (1990) 22-25.

Okamoto H, Taguchi H, Iida K and Danjo K. Development of polymer film dosage forms of lidocaine for buccal administration: I. Penetration rate and release rate, J. Control. Rel. 77 (2001) 253–260.

Osipova NA, Novikov GA, Vetsheva MS, Prokhorov BM, Beresnev VA, and Smolina, TA.
Prosidol, a new Russian narcotic analgesic: the first results in oncology, Anesteziol. Reanimatol.

P Bottenberg, Cleymaet R, Röhrkasten K and Lampert F. Microhardness changes in surface 156.

Pal K, Bag S and Pal S. Development of Porous Ultra High Molecular Weight Polyethylene

Pal K, Banthia A K and Majumdar D K. Biomedical evaluation of the prepared polyvinyl

Park JB. Acrylic bone cement: in vitro and in vivo property-structural relationship: a selective

Park JS, Yoon JI, Li H, Moon DC and Han K. Buccal mucosal ulcer healing effect of

Park K, Ch’ng HS, Robinson JR. Alternative approaches to oral-controlled drug delivery:
bioadhesive and in situ systems. In: Recent advances in Drug Delivery System. Anderson JM, Rowe RC. Correlation between the in situ performance of tablet film coating formulations based on hydroxypropyl methylcellulose and data obtained from the tensile testing of free films Acta Pharm. Tech. 29 (1983) 205-207.

