ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I am indebted to Professor S.S. Bal, Head of the Department of Languages, Culture and History, Panjab Agricultural University, Ludhiana for his valuable guidance in the preparation of this thesis. But for him, I could never have thought of the various sources that have been used in giving it the shape in which it is being presented for examination for the award of the Ph.D. degree of the Panjab University, Chandigarh.

It is my pleasant duty also to accord my thanks to Drs. R.R. Sethi and P.L. Mehra, the two successive Heads of the History Department, Panjab University, Chandigarh for their occasional advice and the help in getting the research scholarship of that University from 1964 to 1968. To the Panjab University which gave me that scholarship, I owe a deep sense of gratitude.

I would like to express my profound thanks to Shri Pradeep Kumar, Principal, Panjab University Evening College, Rohtak for helping me in different ways.

I also can never forget the kindness and generosity of the authorities in charge of the following libraries and record offices for permitting me to consult the original sources.
concerning my subject:–

National Archives' of India, New Delhi; Financial Commissioners' Old Record Room, Chandigarh; Commissioners' Record Room, Jullundur; Record Rooms of the Deputy Commissioners of Jullundur and Hoshiarpur; Panjab Civil Secretariat Library, Financial Commissioners' Office Library, Panjab University Library, Dwaraka Dass Library (all located at Chandigarh); Deputy Commissioner Office Libraries at Jullundur and Hoshiarpur; the Panjab University Extension Library Ludhiana and Panjab Agricultural University Library.

B-545, Sadar Bazar,
KARNAL, (Haryana).

(Devinder Lal)