Why talk of Kashmiri Identity once more? Politicians, Academicians, Jurists, Opinion makers and Journalists rather every body has done quite a bit to write or speak about this topic.

This work is actually intended to know what Kashmiri Identity is. In fact, this term has been used so loosely and in different situations and tones that there seems virtually no concensus on a single definition of this term. A sociological study in this regard was the need of the hour and I have tried to unveil some of the facts about this complex concept. This I suppose is the beginning of a debate and needs more research.

At the outset I owe a debt of gratitude to my teacher and supervisor Dr. Bashir A. Dabla for his keen and personal interest, which he took. Without his advice, guidance, sincerity and sympathetic encouragement this work would not have been completed.

I tender my gratitude to my parents and other family members for their help and support even at the cost of their own engagements and work. I express my appreciation to them and regret for the problems they have been facing because of my busy schedule.

It is very difficult for me to name all those people who have helped me during the course of my research. I therefore sincerely acknowledge the help and support of all my friends, wellwishers and colleagues.

I express my sincere and heartfelt gratitude to my friends at Zero Documentation Centre for their help and hospitality.

Finally, I have pleasure in recording my appreciation to all those wellwishers of mine who were more concerned than me for completion of this work. I salute them all.

Sheikh Khurshid-ul-Islam.
