Acknowledgement

My gratitude and indebtedness to many esteemed individuals, who inspired and helped me in my research work, cannot be conveyed in a few sentences. Each of my interaction with them enriched my knowledge and added a new dimension to understanding the problem with which the present work deals. It is difficult to list every name.

I record my high sense of gratitude and indebtedness to my respected Guide and Supervisor, Professor Nikhil Bhusan Dey, Department of Commerce, School of Management Studies, Assam University, Silchar, for his valuable guidance, encouragements, helpful suggestions and constructive criticisms without which it would have been impossible for me to complete this work.

I also gratefully acknowledge the help and suggestions rendered by Mr. Monoj Biswas, LDM, United Bank of India, Silchar during the period of this study.

I also wish to record my appreciation for Mr. Shekhar Bhattacharjee, Research Officer, District Agriculture Office; Silchar; Mr. Suman Choudhury and Mr. Madhav Roy, Office of Deputy Director, Economics and Statistics, Silchar; and the concerned Bank officials and officials of the District Agriculture Office; and Mr. Meghnad Singh, Lecturer, Deptt. of Mathematics, Cachar College, who helped me with all data collection for this study. I extend my gratitude to Mr. Dibyojyoti Bhattacharjee, Lecturer, Department of Statistics, G.C. College, Silchar for helping me in statistical analysis of the data.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to the farmers of the study areas of Cachar district who helped me in giving detail responses to my probing questions and participated whole-heartedly in interactive sessions and gave me a rare insight into rural credit aspects.

Special thanks due to my Colleague Mr. Kartik Kumar Dwivedi, Department of Political Science, Cachar College, Silchar for his constant encouragement and cooperation for the present work.

I gratefully acknowledge the library support provided by the librarians and the other staff of the NABARD, Guwahati; the National Library, Commercial Library And Asiatic Society Library, Kolkata; Jorhat Agricultural University Library; IIBM Library, Guwahati; K.K. Handique Library, Gauhati University and also to the staff of Central Library, Assam University and Cachar College Libraries for helping me in various ways in pursuance of my research work. I also thank Professor D.K. Pandiya, Head, Department of Commerce for his encouragement and support during the course of my work. In this connection, I express my thanks to the office staff of the Department of Commerce in Assam University for the support extended by them in fulfilling office obligations relating to my work.

I am very much thankful to Mr. Debangshu Chakraborty who took much effort in DTP for the present work.

I must record my thanks to Mr. Parimal Kanti Deb, my cousin, and Mr. Monoj Kanti Das, Deputy Director, Fishery, Silchar for their inspiration and valuable suggestions during my research work. To my husband, Mr. Arijit Rakshit and my daughters Debopriya and Debolina who have stood by me and inspired me, I remain forever indebted.

I shall be failing in my duties if I forget to express my deep sense of gratitude to my late parents-in-laws and above all, to my parents, Mr. Kali Ranjan Deb and Mrs. Anjali Deb, whose blessings have always been a source of inspiration to me.

Place : Silchar
Date : 31st January, 2006

(SUDIPA RAKSHIT)