ACKNOWLEDGMENT

In this column of acknowledgement I take the opportunity to express my sincerest gratitude to my respected supervisor Dr. Snigdha Das Roy, Reader and Head, Department of Sanskrit, Assam University, Silchar. I prepared this thesis ‘A Study of the Feminine Space in Vedic Literature’ under her able guidance. It is only her persuasion and inspiration which prompted me to complete the work. My ink seems to be inadequate to express my thanks to her. From beginning to end She has been my ground and my support.

I express my a sincere gratitude to Prof. Tapadhir Bhattacharjee the former Dean of School of Languages, Assam University, Silchar, Prof. Swapna Devi, Dean of the School of Languages, Assam University Silchar, Prof. Haripada Chakraborty, Prof. of the Sanskrit Department Assam University, Silchar for offering me valuable suggestions and inspiration during the period of my research work.
I do not have adequate words to express my appreciation of the help and encouragement I received from Dr. Sankar Bhattacharjee, Reader of the Department of Sanskrit, Assam University Silchar.

I heartily acknowledge the help received from the authorities and staff of Assam University Library, Edminsonpike Branch Library, Nashville (TN) U.S.A. Kuppuswamy Institute of Research & Studies, Mylapore, Chennai, Tamilnadu and Jayalakshmi Indological Book House, Mylapore, Chennai, Tamilnadu during the preparation of my research work.

It is inadequate to express my sincere thanks to my husband Mr. Rajan Misra who has gracefully helped me during the period of my research work, more generally by providing me the facilities without which my efforts would have remained fruitless.

I feel incompetent in acknowledging the role of my parents and in-laws who have constantly given me counsel and support in many ways through the years. I owe a deep debt of gratitude to them for their constant inspiration during the tenure of my research work.
I extend my sincere gratitude to Prof. A. M. Bhuiya, Prof Biswanath Prasad, Prof. Manabendu Banerjee, Jadavpur University, Calcutta, Dr. Bhagirathi Biswas, Dr. Ashok Kr. Sen for their valuable suggestions during my periodical and pre-submission seminars organised by the Department of Sanskrit in Assam University, Silchar.

I also offer my sincere thanks to all the office staff of Department of Sanskrit and Academic Section of Assam University for their cordial help at various phases of the entire work of the study.

Lastly, I am highly obliged to ‘Silchar Sungraphics’ for printing and designing of my thesis with care.

Date: 12.06.07

SHIKHA SHARMA
Department of Sanskrit
Assam University, Silchar