ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This work would not have been possible but for the encouragement and whole hearted support of a number of people to whom I owe my thanks:

Dr. Sushama A Keskar, Principal, SNDT College of Arts and Commerce, Pune, my research mentor and guide whose valuable guidance, critical suggestions and crucial support saw me through my research work. No words would express my gratitude and thanks towards her.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to Mr. Arvind Kumar, IAS, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Finance for his kind words of encouragement.

I would also like to express my gratitude and regards to Director, National Insurance Academy for his kind co-operation and allowing me to avail of the academic resources.

This thesis would never have taken shape without the motivating force of Dr. Rajas Parchure, Director, Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics, whose special care and constant guidance was of invaluable help at every stage in my study is sincerely acknowledged.

I would profusely thank Mr. S.N. Dash, Associate Professor and Member of Faculty, National Insurance Academy for his continuous support and encouragement throughout the development of my thesis.

I take this opportunity to thank Mr. M. Parshad, Ex-Chairman-cum-Managing Director, Mr. P.C. James, Ex-General Manager and Mr. D.G. Halve, Regional Manager, Agriculture Insurance Company of India Limited who spared their valuable data and shared their expertise about the National Agricultural Insurance Scheme. I benefited immensely from the expertise and views expressed on NAIS in Maharashtra by Mr. Uday Kunjir, Chief Statistician, Government of Maharashtra.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Mrs. Aarti and Mr. Mukund Saraf who went out of their way to help me in whatever way possible, especially the difficult task of data collection and I am profoundly indebted to them.

My heartfelt gratitude to my parents, in-laws and Mrs Supriya Chinchore who have supported, encouraged and blessed me throughout. I am particularly indebted to Dattatraya, my husband, for his unstinted support, patience and encouragement especially during the most trying times of my research.

There are many among my friends, colleagues, relatives and well wishers who have been constantly encouraging me for completion of the study. I express my sincere thanks to one and all who have contributed directly or indirectly their expertise and cooperation to the realisation of this research, without whose wholehearted support it would not have been possible for me to complete the study.
