ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all I offer my gratefulness to Allah, who is the author of the amazing creation. I count it a privilege to be involved in the care of His creation.

A journey is easier when you travel together. Interdependence is certainly more valuable than independence. This thesis is most scientific accomplishment in my life and it would be impossible without the appreciation of the people who supported me and believed in me. I wish to gratefully acknowledge and express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who have contributed to this work in so many ways.

I express my profound sense of gratitude to my esteemed Supervisor Prof. G. Mustafa Shah (Head, Department of Zoology) for his meticulous supervision, reliable and diligent guidance and keen interest at all stages of the study. In spite of being busy in the research and academic activities, he kept himself always available to me. His cooperation, valuable suggestions, fatherly attitude and fruitful discussion helped me to complete this work.

I owe deep debts to my co-supervisor Dr. Ulfat Jan (Associate Professor) for her immense help in planning and executing the work in time. The confidence and dynamism with which she guided the work requires no elaboration. Her friendly attitude has been inspiring, stimulating and sympathetic throughout the entire period of my research work.

Thanks are due to Dr. Nair Azim (Associate Professor, Department of Zoology) and Prof. G. H. Dar (Head, Department of Botany) for the identification of gut contents of fish specimen.

At the outset I deem it a great privilege to place on record my deep sense of gratitude to my uncle Mr. Showkat Ahrrkad Mir, Joint Director Department of Fisheries, J81-K, who encouraged me both morally and academically and without his help it would have been impossible for me to complete this academic venture.

I wish I would never forget the company I had from my friends who always encouraged me during my experimental period. I would like to thank my friends for their gems of wisdom, support, love and enthusiasm when all looked bleak!

My candid gratitude and great debt is to my parents, my brother and his wife and my sister, who have always been a source of inspiration and encouragement to me from the every inception of my career. Their share in terms of their blessings, affection and heart touching encouragement is highly appreciated.

I wish to thank the thorough and every helpful input of Mr. Parvaiz Ahmad (Virus Digital Internet Café) for gorgeous confocal photographs that grace the pages of this thesis.
