Acknowledgement

First and foremost, I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to my supervising teacher, Dr. Beena Mathew, Associate Professor, School of Chemical Sciences, Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam, for her invaluable guidance, constant encouragement and timely assistance throughout the course of this work. She has been an immense source of motivation, and knowledge to me.

I am very thankful to Prof. Suresh Mathew, Director, School of Chemical Sciences, Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam, and to Prof. Sabu Thomas, former Director, for providing me the necessary facilities to carry out this work. I also take this opportunity to thank all the other faculty members of the school for their support. I also wish to thank all technical and administrative staffs of the school who were very helpful during my research. I am also grateful to the Directors of Centre for Nanoscience and Nanotechnology, School of Pure and Applied Physics, and School of Biosciences, Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam, for providing me the necessary instrumental facilities.

I am thankful to UGC for granting me teacher fellowship under the Faculty Improvement Programme. I am greatly indebted to Very. Rev. Fr. Thomas Olickal, the Manager, St. George’s College, Aruvithura, for providing me the necessary leave and to Fr. Dr. Baby Sebastian Thonikuzhy, Principal, St. George’s College, Aruvithura, for his inspiration and constant encouragement. I am also grateful to Prof. Ansamma Thomas, Head of the Department of Chemistry and my colleagues for their timely help and co-operation.

Most sincerely I thank my labmates Smitha K.R., Shiby Susan Kuriakose, Bindhu M.S., Girija P., Anju Augustine, Sooran M.P., Sajini T., Rohini Ashok, especially Jeena Abraham for their support and help. I also thank Prasad M. and Roshini Thomas, School of Biosciences, M.G. University, Kottayam, for their help in carrying out the antimicrobial studies.

I would like to thank my family for their prayers and all the moral and emotional supports they provided during the many stressful and demanding times.

My sincere thanks to M/s.v4u Computers for producing the thesis in the present form.

Above all, I bend before God Almighty for all the blessings showered on me during the period of this work and throughout my life.

Siby Joseph