ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

An expedition is easier when you trek together. Cooperation is indisputably more precious than self-determination in any venture. This thesis is the outcome of three years of scrupulous work whereby I have been accompanied and supported by many people. It is a pleasant facet that I have now the opportunity to articulate my heartfelt, genuine gratitude for all of them.

The first person to whom I would like to express my deep and sincere gratitude is my most outstanding guide Dr. Manoj G. Bhise. During the years of my research work, I have acknowledged Dr. Bhise as sympathetic, supportive and principle-centred person whose constant encouragement, untiring zeal and kindness cannot be adequately expressed in words. Dr Bhise has been of immense help to me both academically and emotionally. Every time whenever I met him, I found him cordial, caring and considerate. I bothered him time and again about my research but he put up with me rather smilingly. I also wish to thank his family members for their wishes.

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to Dr. Avinash Awalgaonkar, Head, Department of English, University of Pune for his cordial support and kind cooperation in official matters. Special thanks are due to Prof. Dr. S. B. Gokhale, Prof. Dr. Aniket Jawre, Prof. Dr. B. S. Korde and Prof. Dr. Raj Rao for their valuable suggestions, encouragement and cooperation.
I also wish to express my appreciation to Dr. V. M. Madge and Dr. R. S. Mhasade for taking keen academic interest in this study as well as providing valuable suggestions that improved the quality of this study.

I am grateful to Shahjalal University of Science and Technology, Sylhet for granting me study leave for working on this thesis. I am indebted to Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) for providing me with financial assistance for the work. I acknowledge my gratitude to the Director and office staff of International Centre, University of Pune. I am also grateful to the office staff of the Department of English, University of Pune, the officers and staff of Ph. D. section and accounts section of the University of Pune for their cooperation.

I owe a great debt of gratitude to my teachers Prof. Rudraprasad Sengupta, theatre personality of Kolkata and Prof. S. Majumder of Raipur who made me interested in studying drama.

I express my sincere gratitude to my colleagues specially Dr. Md. Ati Ullah, M. Alamgir Toimoor, Md. Masum Khan, Tahseen Alam Chowdhury and my beloved students in Bangladesh who were my source of inspiration.

I would like to express my indebtedness to some of my well wishes, who had been very supportive during my research work. They are my brother-in-law Partha Chatterjee, uncle Topon Roy of Italy, uncle Biplab Bhowmick, friend Sibnath Nath, Khairul Ahasan Palash of Dhaka, Md. Raqibul Hasan (Sajib) of International Hostel, UoP and many others.

I am grateful to the Librarian and the library staff of Jaykar Library, University of Pune, Osmania University Centre for international Programmes (OUCIP), Hyderabad, The English and Foreign Languages University (EFLU), Hyderabad, National Library, Kolkata, N. Wadia College Library, Pune for allowing me to use their resources at various stages of my research.

Finally I must thank my wife Purabi Chatterjee who retained family hazards in my absence in Sylhet, only son Niladri Roy, mother Roy Gaytri, father Roy Himangshu Shekhar, sister Kakoli and her husband, Sonkar Mukhirjee for their patience, cooperation and inspiration during the whole period of the study. I am also grateful to my father-in-law Pankoj Chatterjee, mother-in-law Namita Chatterjee and the family members from both sides for helping me in all possible ways for the work when it was most needed.
