Acknowledgement

First of all I offer salutation to Almighty God for everything. Research is really a challenging task and no research work can be completed without invoking the blessings of Almighty. He blessed me, with that I am in a position to work and look forward for more opportunities coming my way. Every mission needs a spirit of dedication and hard work, but more than anything else, it needs proper guidance, working atmosphere and most importantly support from others. But still I would like to put on record my indebtedness to all those great personalities and scholars without whose scholarly guidance, co-operation and help, this dissertation of mine would not have been able to see the light of the day.

It is my proud privilege and earnest duty to express my deep sense of gratitude to my scholastic guide Dr. Navkiran Kaur Dhaliwal, Associate Professor & head, Department of Commerce, Punjabi University, Patiala under whose constant expert guidance, encouragement, support, keen interest, constructive criticism and invaluable suggestion throughout the research work have enabled me to give final shape to this thesis. In fact, working under her supervision is a matter of pride. I could not have imagined having a better advisor and mentor for my Ph.D. study. No words can express my gratitude towards my revered supervisor.

I express my thanks to Dr. Rajeev Kansal, Dr. R.S. Arora, Dr. Rajinder Kaur, Dr. J.S. Pasricha and Dr. Jasmindeep Kaur, Department of Commerce, Punjabi University, Patiala, for their expert guidance, suggestions, motivation and for creating a congenial and comfortable environment for research in the department, thereby enabling me to complete the study. I duly acknowledge the services of Library of Punjab University, Chandigarh; Library of Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra, Library of MD University, Rohtak and Library of Punjabi University, Patiala. I am highly thankful to Mr. Sohan Singh, Mrs. Jaswinder Kaur, Mr. Rana and all staff and high officials of the Punjab State Co-operative Agricultural and Rural Development Bank, Managers of all Primary Co-operative Agricultural and Rural Development Banks in Punjab, who provided me with the necessary information. My sincerest thanks to respondents of this study who spared their valuable time to provide the required information.

I place on record my sincere thanks to Mr. Ramanjeet Singh, Mr. Molu Ram and Mr. Vijay Kumar the member of non-teaching staff in the Department of Commerce, Punjabi University, Patiala, for their co-operative attitude towards compliance of the procedural formalities in the university.

It is my honor and privilege to thank all my family members and relatives for their infinite love, encouraging words and sincere prayers for completing this task. I express my deep regards to my father Mr. Ravinder Mohan Singla, mother Mrs. Saroj Singla, my sister Mrs Anjli, my brother-in law Mr. Raman Garg, my bhabi Aarti Bansal for their love, affection, patience, faith, silent sacrifices and deep encouragement. They helped me a lot in completing my work. I owe my debt of honour and heartiest thanks to my father in law, Mr. Jagan Nath Bansal and mother in law, Mrs. Shimla Devi, for their moral support and endless co-operation.

I owe special thanks to my beloved husband Dr. Vikram Bansal, for the untiring pains taken by him in standing with me on all the odd and even occasions. He is the one whose encouragement and support gave me the strength to complete this stupendous work in time.

The Acknowledgement will not be complete until I extremely appreciate the love, support, understanding, sacrifice and sustaining encouragement of my brother Prof. Sandeep Singla, who helped me throughout the process of research, and my son Manas who sacrificed his childhood for my research work.

Last but not the least, I feel obliged to all my friends and well wishers and everyone who has even contributed a bit in the completion of this task and whose name I am unable to pen down.
