There are no "right" or "wrong" answers. Everyone has right to his or her own views. To be able to get best advice from your results, please answer them exactly and truly. When you answer, keep following four points in mind:

1. Give the first, natural answer as it comes to you. Do not spend too much time thinking about your answers.
2. Try not to fall back on the middle, "undecided" answers except when the answer at either ends are really impossible for you.
3. Be sure not to skip anything and answer every statement.
4. Answer as honestly as possible what is true for you. Do not merely mark what seems "the right thing to say" just to impress the examiner.

If you have understood the instructions clearly, please turn the page and start, if not please feel free to ask for any clarifications.
