ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The present work was started when I was awarded University Grants Commissions Fellowship for carrying out research. While doing the work, I received valuable guidance and help from a number of scholars, institutions and libraries. I consider it as my privilege to acknowledge their help with all the humility I possess.

To begin with, Dr. A. Sundara, my esteemed teacher and research supervisor, deserves my utmost sense of gratitude. This work could never have been completed but for Dr. Sundara's guidance at every stage, especially during last stages. Inspite of his busy official pre-occupations he was kind enough to set aside some time for me and helped me by offering his critical comments and valuable suggestions. For this I express my heartfelt gratitude to him. In course of preparation of this work I received constant encouragement and valuable support from my another esteemed teacher Prof. S.H.Ritti. I am deeply beholden to him for being a great source of encouragement in completion of this work.

Those well known scholars who have additionally helped me by giving the benefit of their specialised knowledge during several rounds of discussions are Prof. S.Nagaraju, Hyderabad, Dr. K.V.Ramesh, Mysore, Dr. M.L.K.Murthy, Pune, Dr. Rajaguru, Pune, Dr.I.K.Sarma and Dr. K.Krishna Murthy Madras. To each of them, I owe my sincerest thanks.
Of the several libraries, I have consulted, the Deccan College library, Pune, the library of the Office of the Chief Epigraphist, Mysore, the library of Department of Archaeology and Museums of Government of Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad, the library of the Archaeological Survey of India Hyderabad Circle, Hyderabad and Karnataka University library, Dharwad deserve special mention for their excellent collection of publications. I cordially thank Dr. S.B. Deo, Dr. V.V. Krishna Sastry, Dr. K.V. Ramesh and M. N. Katti, and Miss Sheila Subhashini Williams and the Chief Librarian of Karnataka University for providing library facilities. I must specially single out Miss Sheila Subhashini Williams, Hyderabad for readily making me available necessary literature at a time when I was badly in need of library facilities. I gratefully remember her for her kind help and encouragement. I offer my heartfelt thanks to Dr. A. Sundara, Director, Department of Archaeology and Museums, Mysore, Dr. H. N. Singh, Superintending Archaeologist, Hyderabad, Shri Venkateshaiah, Deputy Superintending Archaeologist, Bangalore, Sudhir Kumar, Hyderabad, Mallikarjuna, Bangalore for providing me photographs. Copyright of the photographs of the monuments coming under the Archaeological Survey of India, Hyderabad and Bangalore Circles rests with Archaeological Survey of India. S/Shri R. M. Hegde, A. M. Hegde, Mutalik Desai, Pune, Krishnamurthy Bangalore, Venkatachalam, Srikantamurthy, Mysore have looked after to comforts of my stay at those places.
I thank each one of them. I am thankful to Shri C.R.Kadkol, Dharwad who was of considerable help during the early stages of my research work. Shri R.Y.Krishna Rao, Stenographer Hyderabad typed the entire manuscript patiently, neatly and with considerable devotion. I owe my utmost thanks to him. I thank the authorities of University Grants Commission, Delhi for granting me fellowship which helped me a lot in the early stages of my research. Similarly, I am indebted to Dr.P.V.P. Sastry, Hyderabad and Dr. S.V.Padigar, Dharwad and Dr. B.K. Gururaja Rao, Mysore, who ungrudgingly checked up the entire type-script of the thesis and made corrections and useful suggestions. I am particularly thankful to Dr. H.N.Singh, Superintending Archaeologist, Archaeological Survey of India, Hyderabad Circle, Hyderabad who evinced interest in the work and helped me by providing all facilities to complete this work. I remain grateful to him.

Finally, I thank my revered parents, lovable brother and sisters who have continuously supported and encouraged me in this endeavour, in countless ways to fulfil my cherished desire.

S.V.P. HALAKATTI

Dharwad.
