ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In this movie world of chaos and conflict one has to create a lot to be desired. When on the path one is frequently faced with states a doubt and confusion, frustration and disappointment, despair and bewilderment and at this very time of crisis one needs to have patience. The seeker has to bare the art of waiting. It can be our destiny to find the new ways and means. The subject remains to be challenge when we go through the text in more details in the sense.

The native interest in the subject kept up and directed into creative channels by encouragement and masterly direction led the writer to make a systematic study of each topic. He/she read sedulously and endeavoured to draw his/her information from authors best qualified to give it. Here, I am greatly indebted to Dr. Dilip H. TambeKar (Head, P.G. Department of Microbiology) my guide, philosopher and a true teacher, for his highly valuable co-operation and guidance, which caused tremendous zeal, enthusiasm, inspiration and vital force in my task and its fulfillment.

Moreover, my sincere vote of thanks goes to Dr. Mrs. Mangala D. TambeKar, Prof. R. B. Vaidya, Dr. S. R. Gulhane, Dr. D. D. Bhokre and Ms. Pranita Gulhane, their sustained efforts with all sorts of technical difficulties made everything possible on my way and task force.

Now coming to the last but not least, my unforgettable memory rests on my father, Shri BabanaRao Hirulkar, mother Smt. Malini, uncle Shri Ashokrao, unty Late Smt. Nalini, my beloved brothers Mr. Praveen, Sachin, Anoop, Suraj, Saumitra, Himanshu and Mrs. Sapna (Bhabhi) whose blessings paved the way of encouragement, appreciation, administration remains to be vigour and vitality.
Now the time an again, I recollect my memory with my colleagues Mr. Ravindra Kawane, Ms. Deepa Dhanorkar, Ms. Aparna Mahore, Ms. Ulka Bidwai, Ms. B.S. Khante, Ms. Yamini Patil and student friends (M.Sc. Final, 2005 and 2006).

I am also thankful to Ms. Shobha Soni, Mr. Bhushan Manjre, Mr. Sandeep Katole, and Mr. Ashish Shiralekar and late Shri Ravindra Sherekar. Their good wishes inspired me towards my herculean task; goal will remain real fragrance in my life and years to come.

Again, I cast my sincere vote to laboratory attendants Mr. R.G. Deshmukh, Mrs. S.V.Halde, Mr. S.G. Mohod and Mr. R.N. Ingole, whose assistance to provide equipments available in the given time is noteworthy.

A word of apology is due to the authors and the publishers of the very numerous books from which I had taken down extacts. I have, however, made such a mention wherever memory has come to my rescue and I could lay my hands on the relevant books. I hope that my acknowledgement in this general form will be accepted.

Naveenkumar B. Hirulkar