ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am deeply grateful to my supervisor Dr. M.S. Nagarajan, Department of English, University of Madras, Chennai, for his invaluable guidance and support. His scholarship was a source of inspiration for me. I greatly value the freedom he gave me to explore and then arrive at a focus for my thesis. Were it not for his constant encouragement and his quick review of my chapters, I could not have completed this thesis on time.

I wish to record my deep gratitude to the Management of Stella Maris College, Chennai, for their understanding and encouragement. I greatly value the benevolent support of the Principal, Dr. Sr. Annamma Philip. I thank the Secretary, Dr. Sr. Mary Ann for granting me study leave when it was most necessary. Many a time Dr. Sr. Flavia, Vice Principal, said with a smile, "You will do it" and this made me want to live up to her expectations. I wish to thank Dr. C. T. Indira, Head of the Department of English, University of Madras, as also every one in the Department for their help and cooperation.

All the hard work is made worthwhile when colleagues give their unstinting support. I will always remember the great kindness of Dr. Seetha Srinivasan, Head, Department of English, Stella Maris College. She was always there to answer my queries and give her support. I must include a very special note of thanks to my colleague Ms Sharada Bhanu, with whom I have had many an interesting discussion that helped to clarify concepts. She gave so much of her time to read through my work with such care and patience.

Books that I desperately needed were suddenly made available because my friends in the department were so generous. I must thank Dr. Padma Seshadri, Dr. Susan Oommen and Ms. Bernadine Joseph for giving me some important secondary sources. It was my friend Ms. Eugene Pinto who suggested that I read Witi Ihimaera, and I am grateful to her. I wish to thank Dr. Margaret Clarence, Ms. Prema Jagannathan and Ms. Mridula Jose and all the others in the department whose good wishes boosted my morale. I thank Dr. Susan Oommen and Ms. Sharada for helping out with my classes during that final hectic week before submission.

My thanks are due to the librarians and staff of the American Studies Research Centre, Hyderabad, American Center Library, Chennai, The British Council Library, Chennai. A special thanks to the librarian and staff of the Stella Maris College Library.

To all the members of the family, a special thanks -- my husband for putting up with my moods of abstraction and helping me in innumerable ways; my son, for being my teacher at the computer keyboard; my mother-in-law for taking care of everything while I was immersed in work.

Thanks be to the Lord without whose grace nothing can be accomplished.
