Table of Contents

Chapter I  Introduction........................................................................................................... 1

1.1 Background of the Study............................................................................................... 3

1.2 Conceptualization of the Reading Process and Reading Strategies .......... 4

1.3 Literature Review on Comprehension Strategy Instruction .................... 9

1.4 Reciprocal Teaching and its Strategies ......................................................... 16

1.5 Related Research on Reciprocal Teaching ................................................... 17

1.5.1 Metacognition ................................................................................................. 19

1.6 Statement of the Problem ....................................................................................... 23

1.7 Purposes of the Study .............................................................................................. 24

1.8 Research Questions ................................................................................................. 24

1.9 Significance of the Study ......................................................................................... 25

1.10 Scope of the Study .................................................................................................. 26

1.11 Definition of Terms ................................................................................................. 26

Chapter II  Review of Literature ....................................................................................... 29

2.1 Theories of Reading ................................................................................................. 29

2.2 Models of the Reading Process ............................................................................... 30

2.2.1 The Bottom up Model .................................................................................... 30

2.2.2 The Top down Model ...................................................................................... 31

2.2.3 The Interactive Model ...................................................................................... 32

2.3 Language Learning Strategies ............................................................................ 33

2.3.1 Cognitive and Metacognitive Strategies and Reading Comprehension ............. 34

2.3.2 Metacognition and its Components ............................................................. 35
2.3.3 Role of Metacognition in Reading................................. 37

2.4 Reciprocal Teaching.......................................................... 38
  2.4.1 Reciprocal Teaching and Reading Comprehension .......... 40
  2.4.2 Reciprocal Teaching and its Theoretical Framework ....... 41
  2.4.3 Three Features of Reciprocal Teaching....................... 44

2.5 Studies Related to Reciprocal Teaching............................. 51
  2.5.1 Palincsar and Brown’s Research................................. 51
  2.5.2 Reciprocal Teaching in First Language (L1) Context ....... 52
  2.5.3 Reciprocal Teaching in ESL and EFL Context............... 58

Chapter III Research Methodology ....................................... 63

3.1 Research Design............................................................... 64

3.2 Context of the study ....................................................... 66
  3.2.1 Target Population .................................................... 66
  3.2.2 Participants............................................................. 67
  3.2.3 Sampling Procedure.................................................. 67
  3.2.4 Confidentiality of the Participants and of their Responses .... 68

3.3 Research Procedures ....................................................... 69
  3.3.1 Research Instrumentation.......................................... 69
  3.3.2 The Construct of the Research Instruments.................. 73
  3.3.3 Lesson Plans and Teaching Materials........................... 74
  3.3.4 Teaching Procedures.................................................. 75
  3.3.5 The Reciprocal Teaching Model for Reading Comprehension. 76
  3.3.6 Skill-based Teaching for Reading Comprehension............ 79
  3.3.7 Pilot Study............................................................. 81

3.4 Data Collection Procedure............................................... 83
3.4.1 Collection of Quantitative Data ........................................ 83
3.4.2 Collection of Qualitative Data .......................................... 84

3.5 Data Analysis ........................................................................ 85
3.5.1 Quantitative Data Analyses ............................................... 86
3.5.2 Qualitative Data Analyses ............................................... 87
3.5.3 Data and Variables .......................................................... 88

Chapter IV Results of the Study .................................................. 89

4.1 Quantitative Results of the Study ............................................ 90
4.1.1 Results of English Reading Comprehension for the Experimental Group ............................................................... 90
4.1.2 English Reading Ability of Proficient and less Proficient
Students of the Experimental Group ...................................... 92
4.1.3 Comparison of English Reading Ability Results between the Experimental Group and the Control Group ..................... 94
4.1.4 Comparison of Metacognitive Reading Strategies Used before and after the Reciprocal Teaching ............................... 96
4.1.5 Students use of Metacognitive Strategies before Reciprocal
Teaching .................................................................................. 99
4.1.6 Students use of Metacognitive Strategies after Reciprocal
Teaching .................................................................................. 99
4.1.7 Comparison of the Ten Types Metacognitive Strategies Students
Employed before and after the Reciprocal Teaching ............. 100
4.1.8 Comparison of the Metacognitive Strategy Processes the Students Employed before and after Reciprocal Teaching .... 102

4.2 Qualitative Results .................................................................. 106
4.2.1 The Written Record from the Reading Think Aloud Sheet .... 107
4.2.2 Interview Results .............................................................. 111
Chapter V  Discussions and Conclusion ................................................. 116

5.1 Discussion on the findings................................................................. 117

5.2 Implications ......................................................................................... 132

5.2.1 Theoretical Implications of the Study............................................ 132

5.2.2 Methodological Implications of the Study................................. 133

5.2.3 Pedagogical Implication for Reading Strategy ......................... 134

5.3 Recommendations for Further Studies............................................ 137

Works Consulted ....................................................................................... 139

Appendices
List of Tables

3.1 List of colleges and participants ................................................................. 67

3.2 Description of the Metacognitive Strategies and the Number of Items in the Reading Strategies Questionnaire.......................................................... 71

3.3 Summary of Elements of Reciprocal Teaching and Skill-based Teaching in this Study ................................................................................................................. 80

4.1 Reading Comprehension Mean Scores and Standard Deviations (SD) of the Participants in the Reciprocal Teaching Group........................................ 91

4.2 Reading Comprehension Mean Scores and Standard Deviations (SD) of the Proficient and Less Proficient Students in the Reciprocal Teaching Group.. 93

4.3 Reading Comprehension Mean Scores and Standard Deviations (SD) of the Participants in the Reciprocal and Skill–Based Teaching Groups ............... 95

4.4 The Comparison of the Metacognitive Reading Strategies Students Employed before and after Reciprocal Teaching .................................................. 97

4.5 Mean, Standard Deviation, and Level of Use of Metacognitive Strategies Employed Before and After the Instruction of Reciprocal Teaching .......... 100

4.6 Comparison of the Metacognitive Processes the Students Employed Before and After Reciprocal Teaching ................................................................. 103

4.7 Comparison of the Metacognitive Strategies the Students Employed in each Reading Step before and after Reciprocal Teaching ............................... 105

4.8 The Examples of Answers to the Interview Questions of Two Proficient and Two Less Proficient Students........................................................................... 111
List of Figures

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Figure</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2.1</td>
<td>Vygotsky’s Model of Zone of Proximal Development</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2</td>
<td>The Reciprocal Teaching Theoretical Framework</td>
<td>50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.1</td>
<td>Procedure of the study</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.2</td>
<td>The Reciprocal Teaching Model for Reading Comprehension</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.1</td>
<td>Reading Comprehension Mean Scores of the Students in the Reciprocal Teaching Group</td>
<td>91</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2</td>
<td>Reading Comprehension Mean Scores of the Proficient and Less Proficient Students</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3</td>
<td>Reading Comprehension Mean Scores of the Participants in the Reciprocal Teaching Group</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.4</td>
<td>Comparison of the Metacognitive Reading Strategies Students Employed before and after Reciprocal Teaching</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.5</td>
<td>Use of Metacognitive Strategies Employed Before and After the Instruction of Reciprocal Teaching</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.6</td>
<td>Comparison of the Metacognitive Processes the Students Employed before and after Reciprocal Teaching</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.7</td>
<td>Comparison of the Metacognitive Strategies the Students Employed before and after Reciprocal Teaching</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>