Acknowledgements

This work is the result of the significant contributions bestowed on me by numerous well wishers during the tenure of my research.

First of all, I thank my supervisor, Prof. Madhumita Barbora, for her efforts in guiding me throughout. During the five years of my doctoral programme, she has always been an inexhaustible source of support and inspiration for me to work on a language which represents a community’s identity and culture. Without her valuable suggestions, this work would not have been possible.

I also express my gratitude to the members of my doctoral committee, Prof. M. M. Sarma, Prof. B. K. Danta, and Prof. P. K. Das for their suggestions, and advice in general. A special thanks to Prof. M. M. Sarma for making himself available to read some parts of my thesis which lead to fruitful discussions.

My thanks are due to Dr. G. K. Borah who helped me to gain insights on certain issues on semantics in the course of my study.

I am grateful to Prof. S. K. Dutta, the Dean of Humanities, Tezpur University, for helping me cross-check the Assamese data presented in my thesis.

I owe my sincerest thanks to Prof. S. Morey (Asst. Director, RCLT, Australia), Prof. S. Delancy (Dept. of Linguistics, University of Oregon, U.S.A), and Dr. M. Post (Post-Doctoral fellow, James Cook University, Australia). As eminent linguists they were always genial, encouraging, suggestive, and helpful.

I want to express my love and regards to my family members. My brother, Uttam Pegu, deserves a special mention for his endless support and encouragement. I also thank my friends Dr. Asen Walling, Lucky Dey, and the entire team of researchers engaged in North-East Language Development Project (CIIL, Mysore) for their encouragement.

I also thank Prof. T. Taid (Retired Prof, Cotton College) and Dr. B. Doley (President, MAK) for their valuable suggestions relating to my work.
I would also like to express my gratitude to Tezpur University for providing me institutional fellowship w.e.f. from May, 2007- May, 2009.

This work, which is completely data oriented, would not have been feasible without the efforts of my informants. Some of the names which will always remain attached to this dissertation are Keshab Pegu, Sibo Pegu, Suren Doley, Krishna Doley, Gajen Mili, Nilima Mili, Anil Taid, Bonita kuli, Ram Mili, Hemo Regon, Ajita Taid, Dharani Kumbang, Dilip Ngate, Monuj Pangging, Biren Pangging, Champabati Pangging, Nareshwar Paleng, Menon Doley, John Borang, Commission Mili, Bhaksar Bhattarai, and Hemanta Kachari. I would like to thank all the Mising people who directly or indirectly supported and encouraged me during my various fieldwork trips.
