WORKS CITED

PRIMARY SOURCES

Boxill, Anthony. “Mr. Biswas, Mr. Polly and the Problem of V. S. Naipaul’s Sources.” Ariel. 8. 3 (July 1977): 129-41.

Harrow, Kenneth W. “An African Reading of Naipaul’s A Bend in the River.”

Hassan, Dolly Z. “The Messianic Leader in V.S. Naipaul’s West Indian Works.”
Commonwealth Novel in English. 4. 2 (Fall 1991): 55-66.

Leusmann, Harald. "'I am the Sum of my Books': The Trails, Trials, and Tribulations of V. S. Naipaul". The Atlantic Literary Review. 3. 1 (Jan.-

Levy, Judith. V. S. Naipaul: Displacement and Autobiography. New York:

Lindroth, James R. "The Figure of Performance in Naipaul's The Mimic Men."
Modern Fiction Studies. 30. 3 (Autumn 1984): 519-29.

Lloyü, King. "Mimic the Bait and See the Critic Bite: A View of Naipaul’s The ACLALS Bulletin: 8. 1. Aarhus: Association for Commonwealth Literature

MacDonald, Bruce F. "Symbolic Action in Three of V.S. Naipaul’s Novels."

---. "The Birth of Mr. Biswas." Journal of Commonwealth Literature. 11. 3 (Apr.

Mair, Christian. "Naipaul’s Miguel Street and Selvon’s Lonely Londoners: Two Approaches to the Use of Caribbean Creole in Fiction." Journal of

Maja-Pearce, Adewale. "The Naipauls on Africa: An African View." Journal of

Mann, Harveen Sachdeva. "Variations on the Theme of Mimicry: Naipaul’s The Mystic Masseur and The Suffrage of Elvira." Modern Fiction Studies. 30. 3

Swedish Academy. “Nobel Prize for Literature 2001.” 2 pp. 11 Nov. 2001 <rigzin143s@yahoo.co.uk>.

Walder, Dennis. "V. S. Naipaul's India." Indian Literature. 35. 3 (May-June 1993): 83-100.

