A Cartoon from Ananda Vikatan (Tamil Weekly), 1952.

The cartoon depicts an almost farcical situation arising out of the so-called advisoral capacities of the then governors to the Government and their inept handling of the food situation. The public want the nationalist government represented by the farmer and not the advisor, who is ludicrously presented behind the plough to manage the food crisis.