ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is no humility on my part to admit that my concentration on William Saroyan became an enjoyable literary exercise, thanks to the guidance of Dr. S. Natarajan, Reader in English, with whom I could discuss my topic freely at every stage of the preparation of my thesis.

My sincere thanks are due to Prof. T. Venkatachalam, Principal, and Prof. P. K. Vasudevan, HOD of English, for their unfailing motivation.

I am indebted to Dr. S. S. Kumar, Reader in English, Presidency College, Madras, Who prompted me to become a research scholar in American Literature and paved the way for the right choice of the topic.

It would be unfair on my part if I do not express my gratitude to my colleagues Prof. D. John Britto, Prof. P. Pandurengan, Dr. K. S. Radhakrishnan, Prof. R. Srinivasan, Prof. Karunamoorthy, Dr. Rajsethu, Dr. S. Sreekumar, Prof. G. Meenakshi Sundaram, Dr. K. Sadhasivam, Dr. P. Viswanathan, who have always been my well-Wishers in all my efforts.

I deeply owe my thanks to the American Studies Research Centre in Hyderabad and Madras for providing me with necessary books I needed for my thesis.

It is my duty to thank Praveen Graphics for bringing out this thesis neatly and elegantly.

Finally my special thanks are due to my family members who ungrudgingly helped me to carry on my literary pursuits.
