The success of any wholesome work of art purely depends upon the enthusiastic support and unwavering encouragement of collective minds. This is true of this thesis.

I owe with immense pride a lifetime gratitude to my guide and mentor, Dr. A. Arunachalam, Reader in English, Erode Arts College, Erode—a Global Architect in literature for his intellectual, exemplary, professional and academic guidance in the fruition of this long cherished dream. He remains to be a candid and meticulous taskmaster, whose paternal wisdom taught me more about my subject than can ever be witnessed in these pages. His steadfast e-mailing which took me from India to Hadramout University in Yemen both thematically and technically has made this effort gain universalization.

My grateful thanks are due to Dr. (Mrs) Rani Padmini Arunachalam for her professional, friendly and efficient assistance to my major requests and inquiries.

My deepest sense of gratitude are largely due to my senior most professors—Prof. A. Sankarasubramanian, Prof. R. Chenniappan, Principal, Govt. Arts College, Namakkal, and Prof. N. Kumarasamy for their constant support and interest in my studies and in the progress of this thesis. My special thanks are to my senior professors Dr. R. Ganesan and Dr. K. Jayapal for their honest and incisive suggestions and valuable discussions.

My humble thanks are especially due to my senior Prof. R. Madhu, Department of Tamil for the timely help rendered to me.
More than a word of thanks is due to my husband Thiru.C.Manoharan for his immense patience during times when I doubted myself and for his staunch faith in me. I owe my lovable thanks to my children M.Anupriya and M.Ameethaa with whom I shared the joys of thesis writing.

I am greatly thankful to my nephew Thiru.V.A.Ravikumar I.P.S., Deputy Commissioner, Greater Chennai for having been a source of inspiration right from my childhood days.

I sincerely thank the following institutions for the help rendered during the preparation of this study.

- Government Arts College, Salem – 7.
