No one can do everything, but every one can do something

Research is a constructive and continuous process. Encouragement is the best incentive while gratitude is the golden opportunity in any venture. Several individuals and institutions have helped in many ways over the years to complete my research project. So, it is my duty to acknowledge them.

I feel great pleasure in extending my deep sense of gratitude and heart felt thanks to my revered teacher and research supervisor Dr. V. Kulandaiswamy for strengthening the power of creativity in my mind, helping me with inspiring guidance, comments, suggestions on methodology and stylistic approach and empowering me to gain as much knowledge as I can. I am extremely thankful to him for his help in analyzing the ideas carryout the field survey, documenting the information and submitting the project.

I am indebted to the worshipful grace of Revered Swami Nirmaleshananda who blessed and infused ethical confidence in me for the successful completion of my research work. I am immensely grateful to Dr. G. Gopal, Secretary, Ramakrishna Mission Vidyalaya College of Arts and Science for his encouragement and support in completing this thesis. I express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. V. Chinnusamy, Principal of our college, for his valuable advice and moral support. I would like to place on record my sincere thanks to Dr. D. Anandagopal, HOD, of PG and Research Department of Cooperation for his help and encouragement.

I acknowledge with gratitude the benefits which accrued from discussion with Mrs. Roshni Sen, I.A.S., Deputy Chairperson, Tea Board of India, Kolkata, Mr. R. D. Nazeem, I.A.S., Chief Executive Officer, Tea Board of India, Southern region, Coonoor, Mr. Ullas Menon, the secretary general, Mr. R. Sanjith, Head, Commodities, Mrs. S. Anusuya Murthy, Librarian, UPASI, Coonoor, Dr. K. Earthikeyan I.A.S., Managing Director, INDCOSERVE, Coonoor. Mr. Siffiq, Joint Director of Tea, Coonoor, whose expertise in their areas helped me to understand the problems. I extend my profound thanks to Dr. Shaik Mohamad, Associate professor of commerce, Jamal Mohammad College, Trichy, Dr. G. Veerakumaran, Associate Professor, Kerala Agricultural University, Trissur and Dr. K. Nagaraju, Associate professor of social work of our college for making themselves available for discussion and critical comments. I would like to thank Mr. M. Balasubramanian, Assistant professor of management studies and statistician, J J College of Engineering and Technology, Trichy, who took up all statistical analysis relating to this study and made available at appropriate time. I express my gratitude to Managing Directors, technical staff and employees of all the fifteen INDOO tea factories and INDCOSERVE for their timely help in providing adequate data and information. I wish to express my sincere thanks to the respondents for their kind cooperation and hospitality while collecting field data.

It is the right time to record my deep sense of gratitude to my beloved parents who encouraged me to cherish high aims. I shall we failing in my duty if I do not shower my sense of gratitude my uncle T.B. Nanjan, whose motivation has been the main reason behind all my academic endeavors. I am also indebted to all the members of the faculty of cooperation of our college, especially to Dr. C. Vellaichamy and Dr. X. L. X. Wilson for their support and motivation in all my efforts. It is my incumbent on me to thank Mr. Jayabal, Librarian, for making available the necessary literature in time. My thanks are also due to Dr. C. Chandrakasan, HOD of English for his timely help.

Home is where the heart is. I am proud of my wife C. Kamala Shingal, who has borne the domestic responsibility along with her academic career and at the same time extended constant encouragement, support and sacrifice during the research work. I must recognize, appreciate and thank my children G Prasad and G. Poeagodi who sacrificed many days of their fatherly love and care with enthusiastic hearts and expectant eyes eagerly waiting to see the completion of this work.

A special note of thanks must go to Mr. G. Velmurugan M.Sc., who patiently typed successive drafts of manuscripts without losing his sense of humor. My heart felt thanks are due to all my friends and students who have been very helpful to me at every stage of this study.
