ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I owe a great debt of gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Balwinder Singh Tiwana, Professor, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala, who inspired me to take up this problem. He has been a constant source of encouragement to me. It is a matter of great privilege and pride for me to have worked under a teacher of eminence whose valuable suggestions, enthusiastic guidance and helpful criticism made it possible to accomplish this research work.

I am also thankful to Dr. Sarjjeet Singh, Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala, for providing me round the clock guidance about my Ph.D thesis.

The debt of my gratitude for my mother Mrs. Usha Devi and father Sh. Piara Singh Saini goes beyond expression in words. They encouraged and helped me in every possible manner to complete my research work. Their moral support and blessings have helped me to achieve my goal. I could never have completed my work without the encouragement and support of my wife Mrs. Rajwant Kaur.

The luck factor behind my every success is my daughter Arneet Kaur Saini and niece Naseem Kaur Saini. I consider myself safe at every point of life because of the blessings of my daughter.

I feel my pleasure to convey my heartfelt thanks to Prof. R.K. Bansal (Head), Prof. Gian Singh and Dr. Anupama of the Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala.

I could never have completed my Ph.D without the unconditional and selflessly help provided by Mr. Sukhdev Singh, Ph.D. Scholar, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala. I am extremely thankful for his support throughout my Ph.D work.
