ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS
The Voluntary retirement scheme introduced by the public sector banks being a big economic event in the country at the beginning of this new millennium, the thought of researching into its socio economic impact occurred to me and Dr. P. Jeyaram, M.Com., M.Phil., M.S.(IT), Ph.D., Principal, RVS College of Arts and Sciences, Coimbatore, India gave me his scholarly counsel and guidance to render this thought take concrete shape and I am extremely indebted to him for the same.

I also owe very much to Mr. Easwaran Sundarajan B.A.(English) formerly of Coats Vyella Ltd., Indian Space Research Organisation and State Bank of India, now settled in Canada for his sincere guidance and support throughout my research work.

I do express my immense gratitude to Dr. A. Ramachandran, M.Com., M.Phil., grad, CWA., Ph.D., Reader, SNR College of Arts and Science, Coimbatore, India for his great guidance and support throughout my research programme.

Mention should also be made of Mr. M. Suresh., M.Sc., Assistant Professor of Statistics, Tamil Nadu Agricultural University, Coimbatore who helped compile the statistics in relation to this work and needless to say my very many thanks are due to him.

Mr. P. S. Sundaresan, Editor Prabhat Herald Magazine provided the necessary inputs for conceptualizing my thesis and Koppal Nagaraja B.Sc., CAIIB., Deputy Manager at the Head Office, State Bank of Mysore, furnished requisite information to fall back upon and I do thank them for the same.
Mrs. Subhadra Devakumari, MA., MLIS., Assistant Librarian, Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore is another person whom I would like to thank for enabling me seek necessary reference details.

I am also extremely indebted to my uncle Shri P. Dharmalingam, B.Sc., PGDCA., Accountant, Tamil Nadu Agricultural University, Coimbatore and his family for having stood with me right from the start to the successful completion of the programme.

Mr. Rajendran, Academician is one more individual whom I would like to thank for profound guidance.

My husband Mr. B. Kumareshan M.Sc., my sisters D. Vandana, B.E. and S. Vijayalakshmi, MA., M.Phil., B.Ed., my mom and dad, father-in-law and mother-in-law are the members of my family who stood with me all along and without their cooperation my work would not have been complete. Master B.K. Charan, my cute little son, deserves a pat for not playing naughty during my entire research work.

Staff of several banks provided me the requisite data for researching and writing down my thesis and my sincere thanks are due to them.

The Voluntarily Retired Bankmen whom I surveyed deserve my sincere thanks for presenting their views freely and frankly.

And indeed without the help of Almighty, The God my task would never have been complete.
