Acknowledgement
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I deem it as an act of high pleasure to acknowledge the wholehearted cooperation of many scholarly persons and wellwishers without whom it would have been impossible to complete this research work.

First and foremost, I take the opportunity to thank my guide Dr V Mohanasundaram, M.A., B.Ed., Ph.D., PGDG&C., PGDHE., Reader, Department of Economics, PSG College of Arts and Science, Coimbatore, for his tireless guidance, supervision, encouragement and concrete suggestions throughout the research work. His valuable discussion sessions and exposure to seminars (regional, national and international level) had transformed me from being an economic student into a scholarly person. For his goodwill, scholarly assistance and timely help, always I remain indebted to him.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr B Sampathkumar M.A., Ph.D., Secretary, and Dr Sheela Ramachandran, M.Sc., Ph.D., Principal, PSG College of Arts and Science, Coimbatore for having given me an opportunity and facilities to pursue my Ph.D programme at the Department of Economics.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Prof V Selvarajan, M.A., M.Phil., Head and other members of staff in the Department of Economics, PSG College of Arts and Science, Coimbatore for their kind support during the period of my research work.
I owe my sincere thanks to Dr N Nageshwara Rao, former Director, TamilNadu Institute of Urban Studies, Coimbatore for giving his valuable suggestions on research design and methodological framework for primary data analysis.

I express my profound gratitude to Dr T V Sekhar, Institute for Social and Economic Change (ISEC), Bangalore, who furnished me with National Family Health Survey (NFHS) and Reproductive and Child Health (RCH) data and also gave an insight on how to carry out research, analysis and interpret the data. His critical comments and valuable suggestions helped me very much while drafting the chapters.

I am grateful to Dr V Muthurayappa, and Dr M Sivakami, ISEC, Bangalore, who extended their hearty cooperation and gave valuable suggestions during my consultation with them. I also benefited from the critical comments of Dr S Iyyampillai, Professor of Economics, Bharathidasan University, Trichy, I thank him sincerely.

I would like to thank Dr D Karthikeyan, Coimbatore Corporation Commissioner, who helped me to understand the maternal healthcare services carried out at PHC, APHC during discussion sessions. I also thank the officials of Deputy Directorate of Health Services (DDHS), Coimbatore and Erode district for furnishing the required information and data for the study purpose.

The then Village Administrative Officers (VAO) of the villages studied, the school teachers, Anganwadi center teachers, Anganwadi cook, and Village Health Nurses furnished the required information. I thank them all.
I am grateful to all the respondents and their family members, who gave me necessary data and explanation very passionately during the time of interview.

I also extend my hearty thanks to Mr Senthil Kumar, Virtual Systems, Coimbatore for his valuable help in statistical analysis.

I would like to thank all the staff of the libraries of P S G College of Arts and Science, Bharathiar University, Coimbatore and Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bangalore for permitting me during my visits for reference work.

I am also thankful to my friends and co-research scholars Mrs V Sumathi, MBE., M.Phil., Mrs N Rajeswari, M.A., M.Phil., Mrs P Annalakshmi, M.A., M.Phil., Mr G Narasimha Raghavan M.A., Mr M Arulmaran, M.A., M.Phil., Mr A Selvamurugan, M.A., M.Phil., and Mr. E. Nandakumar, M.A., M.Phil., in the Department of Economics, PSG College of Arts and Science, Coimbatore for their cooperation and support.

I take immense pleasure in thanking Mrs S Mallika, Mr U S Sethuraman, Mrs Sangeetha, and G Muthuvalavan for their kind cooperation and constant support, encouragement and financial help given to me during the course of the study. I dedicate this work to the memory of my father late Thiru U P S Surulivel.