Research, being teamwork, is almost impossible to complete without the help of others. This study has also been possible through the wholehearted co-operation of many scholastic persons and well-wishers. I deem it a great pleasure to acknowledge it here.

Foremost, I reserve my feeling of gratitude for my guide Dr. P. Arumugam, Professor of Economics, Bharathiar University, Coimbatore, who gave me the golden opportunity to start, carry on and complete this research work. Certainly he remained kind enough to me by permitting me to use the IDPAD project data for my research, giving his concrete suggestions, tireless encouragement and supervising the thesis thoroughly throughout the course of the research work. His valuable guidance and scholarly suggestions have greatly helped me in writing this thesis successfully. I would like to thank him for his interest in my work and finding time to clear my doubts whenever I approached him.

I sincerely thank the Management and Principal of Kongu Arts & Science College, Erode for permitting me to start my research work. I immensely thank the Management of Gobi Arts & Science College, Gobichettipalayam for granting me permission to continue my research. I also thank Prof. V. Periaswamy Principal, Prof. M. Ramaswamy, HOD of Economics, Gobi Arts & Science College and all my colleagues for their kind co-operation and encouragement.

I owe a particular debt to Dr. A. M. Nalla Gounden, Professor & Head (Retd.) Department of Econometrics, University of Madras, for his valuable suggestions and encouraging words during the course of the study. I also express my deepest sense of gratitude to Dr. S. Lakshmanasamy, Department of Econometrics, University of Madras, Dr. K. R. Shanmugam, Madras School of Economics, and Dr. S. Madeswaran, ISEC, Bangalore for their help in the analytical part of my thesis, especially in Econometric model. Their assistance proved extremely valuable.
I would like to thank Dr. V. Ambalavannan, Reader in Economics and Prof. George Stephen, HOD of English, CN College, Erode for their timely help in preparing the final draft of the project.

I am also thankful to my friends Dr. R. Nagarajan, NGM College, Pollachi, Dr. Sangamithra Nagarajan, Dr. Sugirtha Rani and research scholars Mr. Balasubramiam and Mr. Manogaran, Bharathiar University, Coimbatore, for their co-operation and support.

I am grateful to all the staff of the libraries of Bharathiar University, Madras School of Economics and Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bangalore who extended their co-operation to me in using the library and the Internet center. I place on record my sincere thanks to the authorities of WHO, NCAER, IFPRI to have access to their research publications.

I also thank my loving mother Mrs. Sutharambal Marimuthu, brother Mr. M. Vivekanantha, sister Mrs. Sasikala Muthusamy and brother in law Er. K. R. Muthusamy for their care and constant encouragement.

I am specially indebted to my beloved wife Mrs. Indumathy Raju, Lecturer, Department of Foods & Nutrition, Vellalar College for Women, Erode, who constantly boosted my morale and helped in various ways to make this work a successful one.

Last but not the least, I thank my little son R. Muthu Indrajith, who withstood the lack of parental care for the past few years. I feel proud of him at this moment of completing the research work.

I express my thanks to Sree Kumaran Computers for efficient and neat copies of the manuscript.

I acknowledge all the others who had helped me in one-way or other during the course of the research.
