ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I owe a deep sense of gratitude to my guide and supervisor Dr. S. Jayaraj, Reader in Economics, Department of Economics, C.B.M. College, Coimbatore who gave me an opportunity to work under him. He was the source of inspiration of my research work throughout the period of study. He was kind enough to me by giving valuable guidance, concrete suggestions and encouragement. But for his personal interest and efforts at all stages the study would not have been completed.

I like to express my sincere thanks to Prof D.N.Rao, Centre for Economic Studies and Planning, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi for his help in shaping this work at the beginning. I owe my sincere thanks to Mr. V.Selvaraju, National Institute for Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi for his academic help.

I express my profound gratitude to Mrs. P. Kannamal, office of the Deputy Director of Health Services, Coimbatore, Mr. Duraisamy, Statistical officer and Mr. Ayyasamy, Field Officer, Primary Health Centre, Coimbatore, for the useful information they furnished.

I owe a deep sense of gratitude to Dr. P. Arumugam, Professor of Economics, Bharathiar University, Coimbatore for his suggestions in completing the work. I extend my sincere thanks to Dr. M. Ravichandran, Reader in Economics, Department of Economics, Bhartidasan University, Tiruchirappalli, for his constructive suggestions in improving this study.

I am grateful to Dr. C. Annadurai, Head of the Department, Dr. N. Jaganathan, Reader, Dr. P.K. Manoharan, Reader, Dr. K. Govindarajalu, Reader and other faculty members,
Department: of Economics C.B.M. College, Coimbatore, for their kindness and concern during the period of my research.

I am highly thankful to the Secretary and the Principal of C.B.M. College, who permitted me to do part-time research in this college. I am thankful to Prof. R. Thangavelu, Principal, C.B.M. College for his administrative help.

I am personally thankful to Dr. K. Palaniappan, Assistant Professor of Pediatrics, Government Medical College, Coimbatore for his valuable information and suggestion rendered for my study. I express my deepest sense of gratitude to my brothers Dr. N. Sambanthan, Professor of Anesthesia, Madras Medical College, Chennai, and Mr. N. Thiagarajan, Advocate, Chennai, for their sustained support and constant encouragement given me during the course of the study.

I personally thank Mr. D. Marudhachalam, Statistical Analysis Consultant, Mugil Data Systems, Coimbatore, for his help and co-operation in the analytical part of my thesis, especially in computer programming. I personally thank Prof. C.K. Karthikeyan, Department of English, C.B.M College, Coimbatore for going through the proofs of my thesis. I also extend my thanks to Mr. R. Narasimmanmooty, Librarian and Mr. Durairaj, Library Assistant of this college for providing me the relevant materials. I owe my sincere thanks to all my colleagues in other departments, non-teaching staff in the C.B.M. College and all my well wishers for their moral support.

I am also thankful to Mr. D. B. Sivakumar, Mr. C. Arul, and Miss. V. Gayathri, M.Phil research scholars under me, for their data feeding in the computer and co-operation during the period of data collection and analysis.
I am especially indebted to my wife C. Premikalavathy, Senior Scale Lecturer in Mathematics, V.L.B. Janakiammal College of Engineering and Technology, Coimbatore, and my daughters, C. Kiruthiga Sellam and C. Maghalakshmi, who constantly boosted my morale and helped me in various ways to make this work a success.

I thank all the others who helped me in one way or other during the course of the research.
