Preface

This is a study of land use law in India. Land use controls has been a subject of controversy since the human settlement. Gamut of control increased with human development. Now the controls are for many purposes.

In this context, wetland protection has great importance based on the service rendered by them to man. Being an important topic, the study is confined to laws on control of wetland use.

I take this opportunity to acknowledge the inspiring guidance of my supervising teacher, Professor (Dr.) A.M. Varkey, former Director and Dean, School of Legal Studies, Cochin University of Science and Technology. I record my deep felt gratitude towards him for the patience and pain he has taken to read and correct the draft of my thesis. He guided me in substantial completion of research work. I express sincere and heartfelt thanks to him.

I sincerely thank Professor (Dr.) N.S. Soman, the Director, School of Legal Studies. In spite of his busy schedule, he helped me a lot in completing the work in time. I am greatly indebted to him for giving me valuable insights into the field of research. He had shared his experiences as a researcher. I owe my sincere thanks to Dr. V. S. Sebastian, Dean and Former Director of The School of Legal Studies. He always guided me with good words. He was keen in right evaluation of the work in presentations. I express my gratitude to Professor (Dr.) N.S. Gopalakrishnan, helping me to focus my research and critically evaluating my work at the presentations. I express my heartfelt gratitude to Professor (Dr.) Rajeev, The Faculty of School of Legal Studies, CUSAT for his valuable support and motivation. I thank each and every faculty member of The School of Legal Studies for their valuable support and motivation. I express my profound gratitude to Professor Verner F. Menskil with whom I shared the research topic.
I place on record my profound gratitude towards my parents Mr. M.T. Kunjachanan, and Mrs. Seethamma Kunjachan, for their inspiration. I also express my gratitude to my loving husband Mr. Dinesh P. George and our daughters Baby Ameesha Elizebath Dinesh and Baby Amaya Thresya Dinesh for their support.

I express my sincere gratitude to M.S. Sunitha, Assistant Professor, Govt. Law College, Thrisur for giving me insights to the different chapters of my research. She has gladly undertaken the pain of reading my draft thesis and giving me valuable suggestions. I cannot forget the help and support rendered to me and giving by valuable advises relating to various stages of research by (Dr.) Binumole K., Asst. Professor. The School of Legal Studies, CUSAT and Satheesh K.V., Asst. Professor. Shri Achutha Menon Government College, Kuttanallur. I am thankful to N.V. Prassetha, Asst.Professor, P.N. Premsy, Asst. Professor, Joby Bhasker Asst. Professor. for every help rendered. I am thankful to all others who directly or indirectly helped me in completing this task.

I am also thankful to the Librarian and staff of The School of Legal Studies Library for all the help they have whole-heartedly extended. I am indebted to all the research scholars and my colleagues at School of Legal Studies for their immense support and encouragement.

I gratefully acknowledge Indu Offset Printing at Kalamassery, Kochi in getting this work neatly printed.

I owe my work to the grace of Lord Almighty, without whose blessings this work would ever have materialized.

Dayana M.K.
Contents

CHAPTER 1 INTRODUCTION ................................................................. 1
Relevance and Importance of Study ................................................. 1
Reason for Confining the Studies to Protection of Wetlands .............. 3
Rationale for Land Use Controls ..................................................... 3
Object ......................................................................................... 3
Research Problem ......................................................................... 4
Research Questions ....................................................................... 4
Hypothesis ................................................................................... 5
Limitations of Study ...................................................................... 5
Research Methodology ................................................................. 5
Scheme of Study ........................................................................... 6

CHAPTER 2 HISTORICAL EVOLUTION OF LAND USE LAWS A COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS ......................................................... 14
Evolution of Land Use Regulations: Ancient Period ....................... 18
Land Use Controls through International Conventions and Treaties ..... 23
Land Use Regulation the United Kingdom ...................................... 25
  Norman Feudalism .................................................................. 25
  Breakdown of Serfdom ............................................................ 26
  Feudal Tenures ...................................................................... 27
  Private ownership ................................................................. 27
  Changes in Equity ................................................................. 28
  Industrial revolution ............................................................. 29
  Legislative Reforms on Land Use ............................................. 30
  Modern Land Law ................................................................. 32
Land Use Laws: in the United States .............................................. 32
  English Common Law Origins ............................................... 33
  Land Use Controls through Judicial Decisions ......................... 35
Constitutional Amendments ......................................................... 38
Nineteenth Century Land Use Laws ............................................. 39
Land use Regulations in Canada .................................................. 41
  Developments through Planning Laws .................................... 43
Land Use Regulations in India ...................................................... 45
Common Law Regulations ........................................................... 45