In this thesis, we proved the existence and controllability results for impulsive and fractional impulsive differential systems with delay by using semigroup theory, fractional calculus, probability density functions, Laplace transform with (or without) impulsive conditions. It is suggested that, we extend this problems into investigate existence, controllability and stability results for various types of fractional integro-differential systems with delay and nonlocal conditions in Banach spaces.